SHEPARD TALK ON ALL SIDES AT SARATOGA

Brooklyn Man May Be Selected To Head New York Democratic Ticket.

JUDGE PARKER'S WISHES TO HAVE GREAT WEIGHT

It is Said That Tammany Proposes to Push Candidacy of Some Unnamed Up State Man—McCarren is Opposed to Shepard.

Saratoga, N. Y., September 19.—The majority of the 450 delegates who will constitute the democratic state convention, called to meet here at noon tomorrow, are in Saratoga. The hotel lobbies and corridors, streets and places of public resort are filled tonight with democrats from all parts of the state discussing the probable action of the convention.

Since the arrival this morning of former Senator David B. Hill and State Senator Patrick H. McCarren, and this afternoon of William F. Sheehan, August Belmont, former Senator Edward Murphy, Jr., and Charles E. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, conferences have been in progress almost constantly. The net result of today's developments is the selection of Duncan Campbell Lee, of Ithaca, to be permanent chairman of the convention and former Senator George Raines, of Rochester, to be chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Situation Unchanged.

Otherwise, according to the most authoritative information obtainable tonight, the situation stands as it stood last Thursday night when Judge Parker left New York city, after his series of conferences with various leaders, nothing having been announced as to the prospective candidates at that time.

Conferences will be held so that the names of various candidates who have been mentioned may be weeded out, but it is thought probable that no final determination will be reached until close upon the beginning of the second day's session, if indeed, the adherents of the several leading candidates do not find it necessary eventually to try out the strength of their forces in one or more ballots upon the floor of the convention. It is the general impression, however, that agreements will be reached and the question of the nomination for the governorship settled in conference so that only one name shall be presented to the convention, and the nomination be unanimously made on the first ballot.

It Looks Like Shepard.

There is no dimunition in the undercurrent of feeling which has been in evidence since the delegates began to gather, that unless some compromise becomes necessary the convention will result in th enomination of Edward M. Shepard, of Brooklyn. The belief is prevalent that Mr. Shepard has the support of the national leaders, and this belief gives strength to the Shepard movement, although no one in authority will admit that other than state considerations will influence the action of the convention. Those who hold to Mr. Shepard's nomination think that the final conferences will eliminate all other candidates.

There is this to be considered, that all factions in the state organization are in harmony with Judge Parker and would follow his wishes should he indicate them. But there was no indication today of the receipt of any such intimation. William F. Sheehan, who saw Judge Parker at Esopus yesterday, said this afternoon that he was not the bearer of any message from the presidential candidate.

Senator McCarren today declared himself unalterably opposed to the nomination of Edward M. Shepard, of Brooklyn, and announced without qualification that if Mr. Shepard was nominated it must be without the aid or consent of Kings county, for whose delegation he is believed to speak with authority. This statement was made especially in connection with his urgent support of the candidacy of Comptroller Edward M. Grout, but he admitted that if a conference should agree upon the name of John B. Stanchfield, of Elimra, Kings might concede the withdrawal of Mr. Grout's name.

Greater New York Out of It.

From the time of his arrival until a late hour tonight, the time of Charles F. Murphy was occupied in consultation with his immediate lieutenants and with some of the leaders in the state organization. There was a long conference between Chairman Cord Meyer, of the state committee, and Mr. Murphy. Mr. Meyer has been selected to consult with Mr. Murphy concerning the situation as it specially affects New York city, and generally the outcome of these conferences is the announcement that some differences have been arranged. Today there was an unofficial statement after the conference that Greater New York has been eliminated from the governor equation, and that some "up-state" man, presumably a new man, would be selected. There was no hint as to who that new man might be.

Mr. Murphy was told that Mr. McCarren had been saying that a large number of Tammany district leaders were for Grout.

"McCarren cannot speak for Tammany," he said. He also said that Mayor McClellan, of New York, is not a candidate for governor.

Mr. Murphy's apparent opposition to the McClellan talk is due chiefly to his desire to retain the mayor in his present position, his resignation from which to run for governor would create political complications in Greater New York.

The only things about the platform regarded as certain are that it will be comparatively brief, and that it will indorse the democratic national ticket and drastically denounce the state administration of Governor Odell.

HE USED RAZOR ON POLICEMEN

Bloody Riot at the Polls in New Orleans.

Drunken Ward Worker Slashes Two Officers With a Razor and is Himself Pierced by Ten Bullets—Riot Alarm Turned In.

New Orleans, September 19.—A desperate affray resulting in the fatal wounding of one man and the wounding of two policemen, threatened a general riot today in the seventh ward, where an exciting primary for delegates to the city convention was in progress. Albert Rabasa, a ward worker for one of the factions, was drunk, and threatening trouble. Policeman William Anderson put him under arrest. Rabassa immediately drew a razor and cut the policeman terribly across the arm. Patrolman Adam Arnould went to Anderson's assistance. Rabasa slashed him acros the abdomen.

Thereupon Corporal Tanner and the police drew their weapon, and a perfect fusillade of shots followed. When it was over Rabasa was on the ground with 10 shots in his body. Intense excitement followed the tragedy, but Acting Inspector Journee hurried to the scene with a large force of blue coats, and further trouble was averted.

The woman guarded the trunk by sitting on it while the police searched the house, and Linden betrayed himself by raising the lid for air as soon as his sister, Rose, and the police were about to leave after an apparently fruitless search. Linden submitted meekly to arrest and declared he had killed Meyers in self-defense.

CRUEL WORLD DRIVES LOVERS TO GRAVE

YORK, PA., September 19.—Michael Schall, of the Keystone foundry and machine shop, of this city, and Miss Nettie Gatnatt, also of York, were found dead in the young woman's apartments here today. Returning from a visit they wrote notes in which they complained of the cruel world, sat down without removing their clothing and turned on the gas. Schall was a single man and had been drinking to excess lately. Both had been suffering from nervous affections and to this the tragedy is attributed. Both were well connected socially.

GOODWIN SPOKE FOR ODD FELLOWS

Atlanta Man Central Figure at Grand Lodge Meeting.

Grand Sire Responds to Greetings Given by People of San Francisco—Much Interest in Successor to Goodwin.

San Francisco, September 19.—The sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows convened in this city today. Escorted by the uniform patriarchs militant, the officers and members of the sovereign lodge marched from the Lyceum theater to Native Sons' hall, where the business sessions of the lodge are held. The chief business of the morning was the presentation and acceptance of credentials and delegates.

George Hawkes, of Pennsylvania, was elected to preside as deputy grand sire pro tem. in the absence of R. E. Wright. C. H. Lyman, of Ohio, was made assistant grand messenger.

The visiting members were welcomed by B. W. Lincott, grand master, on behalf of the grand lodge of California, and by William H. Barnes, grand scribe, on behalf of the grand encampment of California. An appreciative response to these greetings was made by Grand Sire John B. Goodwin, of Atlanta, Ga.

The ladies of the order were welcomed by Dora L. Gardner, on behalf of the Rebekah assembly of California, after which the sovereign grand lodge was called to order. After the receipt of the report of the committee on credentials and the admission of a number of new members, adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

The sessions of the sovereign grand lodge promises to be of much interest. The coming election of a grand sire to fill the position that will be vacated at the close of his two-year term by John B. Goodwin attracts the most attention. Under the rules of the order, Deputy Grand Sire Robert E. Wright should be elevated to the exalted position, but Mr. Wright has been forced to decline to serve on account of ill health. Those mentioned for the place are Judge John L. Nolan, of Tennessee; W. L. Kuykendall, of Wyoming; E. S. Conway, of Illinois, and Hill Montague, of Virginia.

Captain Paul was the son of General Paul, who was killed at the battle of Gettysburg.

HARD FIGHTING BETWEEN JAPS AND RUSSIANS

CZAR ANSWERS UNITED STATES

Satisfactory Reply Made on the Contraband Question.

Answer Follows the Lines of Russia's Recent Reply to Great Britain — The Officials at Washington Say They Are Pleased.

St. Petersburg, September 19.—6:22 p m.—The Russian answer to the American notes in regard to contraband of war, as specifically raised in the cases of the British steamer Calchas and the Portland and Asiatic line steamer Arabia (both captured by the Vladivostok squadron), has been delivered.

It follows generally the lines of the reply to Great Britain. On the broad questions involved Russia recognizes the principle of the immunity of innocent trade with Japanese ports, but she holds to her right to stop contraband destined for use by the Japanese military or naval forces.

The United States is informed, as was Great Britain, September 16, that instructions embodying the decision of the commission presided over by Professor DeMartens, professor of international law at the University of St. Petersburg, have been issued in the form of instructions to the naval commanders and prize courts to govern them in the future, the instructions recognising the dual uses and therefore only the conditionally contraband character of the articles of the food stuffs, rice, etc., enumerated in section 10 of article 6 of the Russian regulations with the exception of horses and other beasts of burden.

But the mere fact that a consignment is intended for private persons or firms, as also pointed out to Great Britain, Russia will not accept as necessarily furnished exception from the seizure, should circumstances for the shipment of a full cargo of food create a fair presumption that it is intended for the use of the Japanese government for supplying her army or navy. The circumstances of each case, therefore, will to a certain extent govern it.

The commission's decision, as embodied in the instructions, does not go beyond the articles enumerated in section 10 from which it is inferred that coal, railroad material and boilers for ships and even cotton are enumerated along with munitions of war, etc., among other articles which remain in the category of absolute contraband.

Washington Is Pleased.

Washington, September 19.—The state department has received from Ambassador McCormick a cablegram summarizing the answer of Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign affairs, the protest against the seizure by Russian warships of food supplies of American origin carried on neutral ships. Count Lamsdorff, says that instructions have been sent to the prize courts and naval commanders, supplementing and explaining the regulations respecting contraband of war originally issued. The conditional contraband character of articles of dual use are addressed to private individuals in Japan, they will not be subject to seizure and confiscation unless such private individuals are shown to be agents or contractors of the military authorities of Japan. The construction thus placed on the regulations is eminently gratifying to the state department officials, and it is directly in line with their contentions. The result will be to firmly establish as a principle of international law the exemption of food stuffs, conveyed under the conditions described from seizure a matter which has not heretofore been one of universal practice.

RUSSIA SNUBS KING PETER.

Czar Will Not Be Represented at Servian Coronation.

Belgrade, Servia, September 19.—All the powers have instructed their ministers here to attend the coronation of King Peter except Russia, whose action has caused a sensation. King Peter will be crowned on Wednesday next.

The president's visitors today included Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port of New York, and James B. Reynolds, who was commissioner of licenses in Mayor Low's administration.

Even General Kuropatkin Admits That There Is Something Doing in Neighborhood of Mukden.

RUSSIANS TO MAKE THEIR FINAL STAND ON TIE PASS HEIGHTS

It is Said That Kuropatkin Has Chosen Strong Position at That Point and Will Await the Onset of the Japanese. News From Front Meager.

BERLIN, September 20.—Colonel Gaedgke, the correspondent of The Tageblatt in the Far East, telegraphs from Mukden, under date of September 19, as follows:

"The Japanese are advancing slowly with a broad front, the left resting on the Liao river, and the right on the mountains, probably the Fushan coal mines, 27 miles eastward. The Russian troops have recovered their spirits."

MUKDEN, September 19.—All is quiet here today, but fighting is anticipated in the neighborhood of Sinnmintin, 35 miles west of Mukden.

ST. PETERSBURG, September 19.—A dispatch has been received from General Kuropatkin, announcing that Generals Rennenkampf and Samsonoff are conducting important reconnaisances which have resulted in heavy fighting with many casualties.

From General Kuropatkin's telegram, which was dispatched at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, it appears that General Rennenkampf has recovered from his wound and resumed command of his troops. The reconnaisance disclosed a further increase in the Japanese forces at Yentai and Rentziaputze. The Russians have occupied several villages near the Japanese lines. General Kuropatkin yesterday reviewed the thirty-seventh division of the first army corps.

LONDON, September 19.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg today says the reconnaisances were toward the Japanese front and right flank, resulting in the Japanese being driven back. The Russian losses, according to this version, are said to be slight and it is not clear whether the many casualties referred to by General Kuropatkin were inflicted or received.

KUROPATKIN TO AVOID GREAT BATTLE AT MUKDEN.

St. Petersburg, September 19.—6:56 p. m.—While still insisting that General Kuropatkin has sufficient troops at Mukden to contest the Japanese advance the war office admits that it is not likely that a decisive battle will be fought there. Everything goes to show that the main Russian position is now at Tie Pass, flanked by hills out on the left and by the river on the right.

Official reports to the war office are to the effect that the Japanese did not make any further move towards Mukden until September 17, when reconnaissances in force disclosed that they were still massing at Yentai and Rentsiaputze No Japanese have been discovered east of the latter point. The reconnaissances, General Kuropatkin says, were brilliantly carried out by Generals Samsonoff's and Rennenkampf's Cossacks brigade, with a mixed detachment of infantry and artillery, under Rennenkampf's personal command. They captured a village north of Bentsiaputze, which was used as a pivot. The Russians drew off later, losing a few men killed or wounded, after securing valuable information regarding the Japanese strength and position. A couple of days earlier General Mistchenkof's detachment of Cossacks reconnoitered toward Yentai, at the cost of a few score wounded.

ANOTHER GREAT ARMY FOR GENERAL KUROPATKIN.

St. Petersburg, September 19, 1:57 a. m.—Acting on the advice of his military advisers, Emperor Nicholas has decided to form a second Manchurian army. It will be formed of the corps which are being sent to the far east, and Lieutenant General Linevitch probably will be given the command of the second army. General Kuropatkin will become chief of both armies, but probably without the title of commander in chief.

GEORGIA MOBS VERY HELPFUL TO ROOSEVELT

Frequency of Lynchings in This State Furnishes Ammunition to Republicans.

DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS ARE FEELING GLOOMY

Leaders Are at Loss to Understand Why Southern People Do Not Realize the Great Damage These Lynchings Do to Parker and Davis.

New York, September 19.—(Special.)—There is an air of gloom hanging over the inner circles at democratic headquarters and the cause of it is news from Georgia which is given great prominance in the republican newspapers. Right on the heels of the report that the governor of Georgia had taken positive steps toward the investigation and punishment of the militia which failed to do its duty at Statesboro comes the report of another Georgia lynching, and, if reports be true, for an ordinary killing which the state courts had full power to handle. Whatever defense there may be for lynching for other crimes, it seems from the reports published here there could be none for this latest case.

Democratic Managers Gloomy.

The democratic managers feel very much as if they might just as well fold up their tents and close headquarters, so far as this campaign is concerned, if there is to be a continuation of these lynching stories from the southern states. It is inconceivable to them that the southern people do not realize the immense damage such affairs do to the democratic cause. Here are the democratic managers seeking to impress the country that the democratic party is a great law and order, a great constitutional party, and pointing to the southern states to illustrate their contention that the masses of democracy in that section of the country, which is their stronghold, are conservative; and yet almost every day they have to face some such illustration of lawlessness and mob violence at the south as that furnished by Statesboro and Cedartown and Royston, and other points in the south.

Hopeful Outlook Otherwise.

Despite the reports of inactivity which are being spread by the republican and independent papers, the fact is the democratic campaign in the doubtful states has been progressing favorably. In all these states, there are evidences of a genuine democratic revival which is most encouraging. Not only are the regular democrats perfecting an organization that is capable of doing good work, but the thinking independents have been inclining to the democratic cause because it is assumed to represent constitutional government and law and order as against the alleged tendency of the republican candidate to override the law.

But there can be no question that these mob outbreaks in the southern states have the effect of nullifying all the efforts of the democratic managers in this direction, and each has cast a decidedly gloomy effect about democratic headquarters. If there had been but one, it might have been possible to overcome its effect; but the frequency of these outbreaks and the fact of their coming right in the midst of the campaign has had a most disheartening effect.

Republican Campaign Material.

The republican newspapers, realizing the effect of these southern lynchings upon sentiment at the north, where respect for the law is ingrained, are not only seeing that the news reports are magnified in all their newspapers, but are preparing to scatter broadcast campaign documents containing lynching statistics. It is understood they are having the same material put into large posters to be pasted on billboards and other convenient places in every corner of every doubtful state. West Virginia republicans are particularly jubilent over these developments, claiming that this record of lynchings alone will carry that state for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. They have been fearful lest the great popularity of Senator Davis with the working classes, black as well as white, would lose them the state; but now they talk confidently of holding in line every negro vote, as well as the vote of every white republican, and if they do they will have a good majority.

Another thing the republican managers have prepared to do. They propose that every southern speaker who comes to the doubtful states to talk for Parker and the constitution shall be met by embarrassing questions concerning this lynching business. If this plan is carried out, the opinion here is that southern orators, who were expected to be the chief reliance of the democratic campaign, might just as well stay at home.

Whether the republicans will be successful in this feature of their campaign plans or not, the democratic managers do not attempt to concede their fear that the spreading of lynching literature will do infinite harm. They feel today as if they might just as well close up the headquarters on Thirty-fourth street and go to their respective homes if these lynchings are to continue at the south.

Nervo-Spinal Diseases.

I have recently perfected a system for the cure of the more serious nervous, spinal and muscular diseases. My treatment has been tested in public hospitals and sanitariums with gratifying success. It is a humane, simple method with none of the old notions of branding, hanging by the wrists and so forth, which were so much in vogue. My system will be of permanent benefit to sufferers from epilepsy, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, twitching of the body or the skin, inability to move the muscles for walking, etc. Please take this announcement as an invitation to call on me for examination. It will give me an opportunity to explain my system to you and to show you by actual demonstration that I am able to control these diseases. I make no charge whatever for examination or chat, so kindly call soon. I also invite physicians to send their serious cases to me. Gratifying results also have been obtained by persons who used this system in their own homes, far away from me, but under my direction. I only advise this when the patient is unable to visit me in person. If sufferers will write me I will be glad to enter into a correspondence with them and advise them free of charge what to do. The treatment is effective no matter what the cause of the disease is, whether hereditary or acquired through another disease. But I can explain all this better to you in person or by letter, so call on me or write me. My address is J. Newton Hathaway, M. D., 33 Inman Bldg., 22½ S. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga. If the cars had gone over at that point there would have been a frightful loss of life. About twenty people were injured, among them being Mrs. T. J. Ramsey, of Eufaula, Ala., head injured.

MUCH GRAFITIE IS IMPORTED.

Only 37,000 Tons Produced in the United States.

Washington, September 19.—The United States geological survey has issued a report showing that in 1903 the United States consumed 37,758 short tons of graphite, valued at $1,578,589. The value of the total home product was only $225,554. The annual importation of graphite into the United States each year far exceeds, therefore, the domestic production. The value of the imports in 1903 was $1,207,730, against $1,168,554, the value of the graphite imported in 1897.

McCutcheon Wrote "Brewster's Millions."

Lafayette, Ind., September 19.—George Barr McCutcheon, the author, who is visiting in this city, admits that he is the author of "Brewster's Millions," a book the authorship of which has been hitherto been attributed to one Richard Greaves. In explanation of the concealment of the author's identity, Mr. McCutcheon says it is a result of a wager with a publisher to the effect that the name of an author has nothing to do with the sale of a book.

THREE VISITS BY BURGLARS

Hunter Adams Has Exciting Time with Persistent Burglars.

Hunter Adams, of 49 Garnett street, has had several experiences with persistent burglars during the last few days.

Mr. Adams was aroused from his sleep Tuesday night by two men, supposedly white, trying to get into his bedroom, which is next to the front veranda. He asked the men what they wished, but they did not reply and left.

Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, while Mr. Adams was sitting on his front veranda with his wife, two suspicious white men passed.

A short while after retiring the same window was tampered with, and this time Mr. Adams fired a pistol at the would be burglars. The men ran, and in a few minutes Officer West arrived at Mr. Adams' home. When told what had happened, he began a search, and arrested a white man, who was sent to police barracks.

The man was tried before Recorder Broyles Thursday morning, but the case against him was dismissed for want of evidence.

Mr. Adams says he thinks the two men who tried to rob his room followed him home from the Grand opera house Tuesday night, where he went, carrying his wife and two lady friends. He says they must have seen him take a $20 bill from his pocket and pay for opera tickets.

DIVORCED GIRL FOULLY SLAIN

The Police of Louisville Are Working on a Mysterious Murder.

Louisville, Ky., September 19.—Mrs. Fannie Porter, 20 years old, was found dead in her apartments at Jackson and Market streets today, all evidence showing that she had been murdered by some one who escaped, leaving scarcely any clue as to his identity.

The young woman's throat was cut from ear to ear and the apartment showed traces of a fearful struggle. Mrs. Porter, who had been divorced from her husband, lived alone. She had been dead for some time when found. No arrests have been made.

TWO MEN SLAIN BY ROBBERS.

Hold Up Men Raid Town on Illinois Central.

Chicago, September 19.—Two men were killed and another shot and seriously injured in a battle with hold-up men at Riverside, a small town on the Illinois Central railroad, 15 miles south of Chicago, tonight. Late tonight two robbers broke into the section house, which was occupied by several Italian laborers, and the railroad men, who had retired for the night, were ordered to produce what money they had in their possession. Instead of complying with the demand, the Italians rushed on the robbers and tried to overpower them.

In the fight that followed revolvers and knives were used, with the result that two of the Italians were killed and another severely injured. Seeing that they were getting the worst of the fight, the other occupants of the section house fled from the place and left the robbers in full possession. The two hold-up men then secured all the money which the men had secreted about the house and made their escape.

GEORGIA COURTS AFTER FEUDISTS

Gov. Terrell Will Probably Make Requisitions for Floridians.

Altmans and Their Friends Will Probably Be Tried in Charlton County—Much Feeling in Baker County Against the Turpentine Operators.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 19.—(Special.)—The twenty alleged Baker county feudists who were brought here by the soldiers and turned over to Sheriff Price of this county, are still in jail, though lawyers, who have been engaged will institute habeas corpus proceedings.

Jesse Altman, who appears to have been the leader of the crowd, states that he was deceived into giving himself up. He states that when he surrendered he was to have been taken to the jail at McClenny, the county seat of Baker county, and to have had a preliminary hearing. In the absence of any direct testimony to implicate any of those who are charged with being members of the mob who killed the deputy sheriff, he thought to escape prosecution and to be released at the preliminary hearing.

All of the prisoners feel confident of their discharge from custody as soon as they are returned to Baker county for trial. It is a fact that there is a great deal of bitter feeling in that county among the farmers because of the turpentining of that county by the Duncans. They interfered with the burning of the woods and as the privileges which the farmers enjoyed for their stock before the Duncan's moved to Baker county.

The authorities of Charleton county, Ga., where the murder of the negro and Jackson Duncan occurred last Sunday night on the train, the authorities of Baker county and Sheriff Price, with the state's attorney, were in consultation this morning in reference to the disposition of the prisoners. There is no testimony against Charley and Hilliary Altman for killing the negro and Jackson Duncan and wounding Marshall Duncan and throwing him off the train.

As all this occurred in Charleton county, Ga., the sheriff of that county thinks that he ought to have the two men, since there is no direct evidence to implicate them with the subsequent affairs at Baxter. Sheriff Herndon will not object, and it is believed that the state's attorney will concede the justice of the demand from the Georgia officials. If this course is decided upon requisition papers will be prepared at once, and Charley and Hilliary Altman will be sent to Folkerston, Ga., the county seat of Charleton county.

All is quiet at Baxter, and no further trouble is anticipated.

THEATERS.

"The Climbers," a society drama from the pen of Clyde Fitch, was the attraction at the Grand last night, with Miss Amelia Bingham at the head of a cast that included just the kind of clever drawing room folk calculated to bring out the strongest and best in the lines and situations. "The Climbers" has been produced here before, but in the hands of the company last night, those little touches that speak so cleanly and clearly the knowledge of the feminine mind and its weaknensses, those flashes of conventional humor that are at times both good form and inclined toward the risque, and most of all those telling climaxes which deal with the strength of a strong woman and the weakness of a weak man—all these things which Mr. Fitch does so well—are to be seen at great advantage in the aspirants for wealth and social position as portrayed by the members of last night's cast.

Mr. Frank Worthington as the moral coward of the play was eminently satisfactory in a most trying part, while Mr. Charles Richman as the "other man" in the case was just what was called for. Mr. Roy Fairchild, Miss Adelyn Wesley, Miss Ivy Troutman and little Miss Moselle Tatoum helped much in bringing many artistic touches to the fore. The stage settings were exceptional and the costumes magnificent. Miss Bingham and her coterie of clever players will close the engagement with two performances of "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" this afternoon and evening.

ALAN ROGERS.

"The Waifs' Paradise," at the Bijou for the week, is original, thrilling, interesting and good. There is much that is not melo-dramatic, and there is much that is absolutely melodramatic. There are four acts, and there is something thrilling or sensational in each one.

The story is one that is natural, and is perhaps the masterpiece of Mr. Hall.

The scenic effects are decidedly clever, and the specialties and musical numbers appeal strongly and win encores.

There will be matinee and evening performances today, and the usual schedule of Bijou performances during the rest of the week.

"McFadden's Row of Flats" will begin an engagement soon at the Grand. A cast of note worthy excellence has been engaged for the production among which will be found the Speck brothers, Billy Barry, Jr., Joseph F. Willard, Otto brothers, Harry Fontell, Gussie Nelson and Lizzie Conway.

BORAX IN THE UNITED STATES.

Nearly 35,000 Tons Produced During Last Calendar Year.

Washington, September 19.—According to the statistics compiled by the geological survey the United States during the last calendar year produced 34,430 short tons of crude borax, valued at $651,400. The production in 1902 was 17,454 short tons refined borax, valued at $2,447,614, and 2,600 short tons of crude borax, valued at $91,000. The amount of borax, borates and boracic acid imported into the United States in 1902 was 1,694,251 pounds, valued at $63,236. In 1903 the amount imported was 909,251 pounds, valued at $47,018.

Jobbing Firm Goes Under.

Albert S. Louer, representing the petitioning creditors, estimates the assets of the company at $200,000 and the liabilities to be about $500,000.

SIX MEN SLAIN OVER CRAP GAME

Bloody Battle Between Negro and White Gamblers.

Three White Men and Three Negroes Are Shot to Death and Others Are Wounded—White Men Lost and Demanded Their Money.

Cario, Ill., September 19.—A negro employed by N. B. Thistlewood, of this city, at O'Brien's Lending, four miles below here, has come here and reported to Thistlewood that in a quarrel over a crap game, six men were killed, three whites and three negroes. A white man who had lost his money in the game went away and summoning a party of friends returned to where the negroes were playing and demanded the money. A fight with rifles followed.

O'Brien's Landing, where the shooting occurred is in a remote place on the Mississippi river, 14 miles below Cairo. The trouble originally was over a woman. The white men, who are farmers in the neighborhood, ordered Robert Casey, foreman of the negroes, who are employed on levee work, to drive them out of the locality. Casey refused to do so and the shooting commenced.

The crack of rifles and revolvers and heavier reports of shotguns continued for several minutes. The negroes were routed and left the camp in possession of the white men. Robert Casey, the foreman, arrived in Cairo late last night and his face and shoulders were literally filled with shot. He reported that as far as he knew he was the only person shot. Officers left for the place of the shooting today.

Mercer Boys Reporting.

Macon, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—Though Mercer does not open its doors to the young men of the state till September 25, many of the boys have already come in, and the college campus has assumed an appearance of activity. The frats already have their sharp-shooters out with pins to "spike" every newcomer who is thought eligible for membership.

Want Him to Remain.

Macon, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—A committee of the deacons and several members of the Tatnall Square Baptist church has been appointed to discuss plans for retaining Rev. J. Q. Harrison as pastor of their church. When Dr. Harrison decided some time ago that he would have to give up his pastorate to go on an extended trip to Germany and the Bible lands of Asia Minor this resolution was received with much regret by his congregation. Arrangements to retain him as pastor of the church by temporarily filling his place during his absence have been discussed by the congregation, and the purpose of the committee will be to carry out these arrangements.

Scheme Fell Through.

Macon, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The scheme of a Savannah man to open up a vaudeville theater in Macon in connection with a bar room has fallen through because some of the aldermen gave the plan the cold shoulder. As Macon's new theater will probably have a late opening, the scheme of the Savannah man was at first favorably received, till it was discovered his plan involved a few drinks, as well as the show.

Advertising the Fair.

Macon, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—That the coming state fair to be held in Macon has been well advertised there is no doubt. One of the schemes for advertising te fair is that of Mayor Smith. He sent out horse blankets all over the state, with "Meet Me at the Fair" printed on them in large black letters. nI order that the blankets might be distributed he sent them to the mayors of Georgia towns. That these blankets are advertising the fair has been shown in many reports which have reached Mayor Smith.

Carriage Workers in Convention.

Cincinnati, September 19.—The seventh annual convention of the Carriage and Wagon Workers' International union opened with a large attendance today. After Secretary P. J. Mulligan called the delegates to order, addresses of welcome were made by the mayor and representatives of local unions, with responses. The sessions today were devoted to reports from committees.

His Left Arm Torn Off.

Mobile, September 19.—Captain Pat J. Quill, chief engineer of the Alabama steamer, Nettie Quill, one of the best known steamboat men in the state, had his left arm torn off by the machinery of his boat, while running between Mount Pleasant and Dixie landing yesterday. At the time he was standing on the wheel guard giving some orders when he fell and his arm was caught between the crank pin and the pitman. The bone was crushed and the flesh was ground to a pulp.

CLOTHED IN WHITE SATIN, DOWIE TAKES NEW TITLE

CHICAGO, September 19.—Wearing a rich robe and mitre modeled after those of an ancient Jewish high priest, John Alexander Dowie has proclaimed himself "John Alexander," first apostle of the Christian Catholic church. The announcement was made in the tabernacle at Zion City, where 7,000 people had assembled.

Mr. Dowie referred to the robes in assuming the office. After quoting Scripture in support of the claims he had made to the title of first apostle, he said:

"I did not create the office. It was created by the Lord. I did not create it any more than I designed these robes. If you are in doubt as to my authority to wear them, you will find it in the twenty-eighth chapter of Exodus, the pattern given by God to Moses, when the high priesthood was established."

Dr. Dowie wore a long garment of heavy white satin, lined with white silk. Over this was a purple satin robe, fringed with gilt, of knee length. The embroidered coat, the richest feature of the costume, was of white satin embroidered with geometrical patterns in purple and gold, the colors of the church.

The girdle was there with historical accuracy, but on the breast plate instead of the twelve jewels prescribed by the Jewish ritual was embroidered a scarlet cross edged with gold. Dowie's head dress consisted of a white silk mitre or turban ornamented with two purple bands. White silk hose and white canvass shoes completed the costume.

"The office of first apostle is perpetual," said Dowie, after he had read several long passages from Scripture. "It should have been continued. Successors to the original twelve were chosen to the number of nine to fill vacancies caused by martyrdom or death. My assumption of the first apostleship is the final step in the organization of the church as planned by Jesus Christ."

TALKED THEN; WILL NOT NOW

Arrest of Negro Woman in Connection With Bessie Roberts Murder.

Anniston, Ala., September 19.—(Special.)—The police arrested a negro woman this afternoon charged with being implicated in the murder of Miss Bessie Roberts last Monday. The woman is in the city jail, and refuses to talk. Before her arrest she told several conflicting tales of the crime, and seemed to know more than she would tell at any time.

It is believed that the murderer stayed at her house the night after the deed was done, and while in a drunken condition, told her of the crime he had committed. The negress' reputation is very unsavory and little confidence can be placed in what she says. The police believe that she has some knowledge concerning the crime she has not told.

The suicide theory was advanced again today, but when the woman was arrested this quieted down.

The horrible deed is still the talk of the town. The state has offered $250 reward, while a similar amount has been raised by citizens for the arrest of the guilty party.

J. Oscar Roberts, a brother of the dead woman, left today for New Orleans. It is not known if his trip is made concerning the crime or not, but it is thought so, as he is believed to be en route to her former home in Texas in search of evidence.

Bold Burglary.

Macon, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—One of the boldest burglaries that has disturbed the police force in some time was committed last night at a late hour. Patroiman Bryan, in his examination of the doors along Second street last night, discovered that of Lamar & Lamar, on the corner of Second and Mulberry streets, unfastened. On investigation, it was found that $120 had been stolen from the cash registers in the store. It seems that the burglar, or burglars, overlooked the largest plum, as there was a big safe in the rear of the store containing $1,200. The safe was unlocked, but the burglars seemed satisfied with the money found in the cash registers. As both the cash registers were locked when the store was closed last night, about 11 o'clock, the police think the burglar was concealed in the store before it closed. The city detectives are at work on the case, but so far no tract has been found of the missing money.

Clay Superior Court.

Fort Gaines, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The fall term of Clay superior court convenes here today with his honor, Judge Sheffield, presiding. The indications are that it will be a short session, as there is buf one case of any importance on the docket, being Cain v. Bigbie, murder, and it is the impression of many in the county that Cain was justifiable in the killing of Bigbie, having to do it in self-defense.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—Rev. J. L. Yankle, who has been assistant pastor for the First Presbyterian church of this city for one year, has been chosen pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Holly Springs, Miss., and goes to Mississippi on October 1. His successor here has not yet been selected. He has done fine work in Columbus, and his departure is regretted.

BLACKS BESIEGE PLANTER'S HOME

Serious State of Affairs in Wayne County.

Negroes Have Notified Bennett That He is a "Marked Man" and Are Besieging His Home. Volleys Fired Into the House.

Savannah, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—Last night the home of J. E. Bennett, a prominent farmer, 2 1-2 miles from Screven, in Wayne county, was fired into by negroes, and one of his nephews received a bullet in the crown of his hat.

Sheriff Overstreet, with two bloodhounds, spent the night in the vicinity of the Bennett home in an effort to catch the marauders, but failed. Hamp Bennett, of Jesup, has gone to his brother's house tonight. The home of Bennett's is virtually in a state of siege. He has been warned that he is a "marked man" and his neighbors have been called upon to aid in protecting him.

He has been advised by the letters that he need not worry about his cotton, as it will soon not concern him whether it is picked of not. Last night a wagon loaded with negroes was driven to within a short distance of Mr. Bennett's home. The negroes dismounted and fired several volleys at the house.

The shots were returned by those in the house and the negroes withdrew. The negroes have a grievance against Mr. Bennett for sending a negro preached to the chaingang. The negro pushed a young son of Mr. Bennett's off a fot log and was prosecuted for it. Bennett was shot a week ago by an unknown person.

Pleased the Farmers.

Americus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) Judge Charles Crisp won the gratitude and approbation of farmers when, this morning, he announced a postponement of the regular session of the city court of Americus for six weeks. Farmers are exceedingly busy and a session of court now, lasting three weeks and taking dozens of negroes from the cotton fields as witnesses and principals in case docketed would have worked great hardship and loss to farmers generally.

Negroe Receives Fatal Wound.

Albany, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—Sheriff Edwards, Deputy Sheriff Goodwin and a posse of a half dozen effected the round up yesterday of eleven negroes, who were participants in a Saturday night brawl, which wound up in a shooting scrape in which Richard Williams received fatal wounds, dying this morning.

DEATH DECREED BY NEGRO CLUBS

Before Day Scare is on in Talbot County.

As Result Several Negroes Are Under Arrest Charged With Plotting the Death of a Leading White Citizen.

Talbotton, Ga., September 19.—A great deal of excitement prevails in the eastern part of Talbotton county near Poplar, Ga. It was reported Saturday night that a club had been formed among several negroes to kill Mr. T. A. Kimbrough, a prominent citizen living near Poplar. Several of Mr. Kimbrough's friends went over and remained there until Sunday. The following negroes have been arrested and are now in the Talbotton jail charged with being members of the club:

Joe Wimberly, James Miles Monk, Arthur Crouch and a negro woman named Josie Stinson. The case will come up at Talbotton tomorrow before Judge Baines. It is reported that the lives of several prominent citizens near Poplar and Max, Ga., have been threatened by negroes.

Fire Arms in Demand.

Savannah, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The advent of real or suppositous "Before Day Club" has meant the increased sale of firearms and ammunition. To this fact the hardware dealers of Savannah testify. Local dealers in firearms say that their orders for arms and ammunition have increased decidedly of late. They observed the increase simultaneously with the report of the first "Before Day Club" that reputed to be back of the Hodges tragedy near Statesboro. As other communities became infected with the after dark scare, orders for rifles, guns and pistols and ammunition increased, until now the trade is heavier than it has been for some years.

Armed Negroes on Guard.

Montgomery, Ala., September 19.—(Special.)—Autauga county reports a rumor of a Before Day Club, and there is uneasiness as a result. Five miles out from Prattville there is a place called "Autauga Hill," and on a number of occasions negroes are said to meet there and hold secret meetings. Men passing the roads have seen negroes at the roadside with guns who seemed to be guarding the school house nearby where crowds of negroes seem to have gathered. One night one of these armed negroes stopped a well-known citizen in the road and parleyed long with him before he would allow him to go by.

NEGRO PREACHERS SCORE LAWLESSNESS

IMPEACH THEM, SAYS THE JURY

Report On the Investigation of Huntsville Lynching.

Grand Jury Recommended the Impeachment of Sheriff Rogers, Mayor Smith and Chief of Police Overton—Troops Still on Duty in Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala., September 19.—(Special.)—The special grand jury made its report tonight, recommending the impeachment of Sheriff Augustus Rogers, Mayor Thomas W. Smith and Chief of Police David D. Overton, and recommended that the police force of the city of Huntsville be reorganized.

The grand jury finds that Sheriff Rodgers was guilty of neglect of duty, or incompetency, in that he did not prevent the lynching, failed to take proper precautions for the defense of the prisoner, allowed a mob of unlawful assembly to remain several hours in the vicinity of the jail, and took no steps to disperse the same; permitted arson in the first degree to be committed in the jail, allowed the lives of prisoners under his care to be jeopardized by fire and smoke, wilfully failed or refused to fire upon the mob or to order the same to be done when the mob was besieging the jail, assaulting the garrison by throwing rocks and other missiles and failing to order or command the mob to disperse.

The jury finds that Mayor Smith was guilty of neglect of duty because he allowed an unlawful assembly of people to throng the streets of the city for hours and failed to use proper means to disperse them; failed to adopt any measures to preserve the peace of the city, notwithstanding arson and murder were being openly committed; refused to order out the fire department to extinguish the fire in the jail; failed, or refused, to send police protection with the fire department, etc.

Chief Overton, of the police department, is charged with failure or refusal to disperse a riot or mob; refused to carry aid to the sheriff, upon the summons of that officer, and adopted no effective measures for the prevention of the mob.

The action of Governor Cunningham in sending militia to preserve peace and order is commended, and in view of the fact that a military court of inquiry is investigating the conduct of the local militia on the occasion of the riot, no comment is made on their actions except they appear to be under the command of one officer incompetent and ignorant of his duties.

The jury returned seven additional indictments, making twenty-six in all.

Military Court Taking Evidence.

Huntsville, Ala., September 19.—(Special.)—The military court of inquiry began its investigations this afternoon Captain Robert L. Hay, of company "F," Lieutenant Thomas H. Hay and Second Sergeant Joseph Brock, were examined.

Captain Hays' testimony showed he was under the impression that he was to receive orders from Sheriff Rodgers, while guarding the Madison county jail; that his pickets were posted in the stairway, the sheriff cautioned the soldiers not to allow anybody to come up the stairs and not to shoot until he ordered. The mob broke in the back door of the jail and started a fire which soon made the interior of the jail intolerably hot. The men begged to be either allowed to shoot or ordered out of the building.

They Investigate the Stories Afloat in Regard to Before Day Clubs.

PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO SUPPORT THE LAW

Reports From Constitution Correspondents Show That There is Little Basis for the Sensational Stories Regarding the Before Day Clubs.

Milledgeville, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The negro preachers of this community have investigated as far as possible the rumors that there was a Before Day Club in this county. The Milledgeville News in an article last week stated that a negro said he knew of the existence of such a club, but that he was afraid to tell anything about it; also that a farmer stated that he had noticed suspicious negroes going to a certain church in this county and a merchant reported an unusual sale of firearms to the country people.

The negro preachers held a meeting today and the following card, signed by two of the leading preachers, is the result:

"Our attention has been called to a piece published in The Milledgeville News, dated September 17, relating to an organization known as the Before Day Club in Baldwin county. After reading the piece we at once called the ministers of the city and county together and made a thorough investigation. We found no such order existing, but did find that one of the pastors near Stevens pottery had had some trouble with one of his members and no doubt the report published in The News started from that point. It is our intention to give the white people our cooperation in running all such lawlessness down and uphold the law at all times. Yours very truly,

C. J. JONES,
P. E. Milledgeville District;
F. L. FLEMING,
P. C. of A. M. E. Church.

No Before Day Clubs in Lowndes.

Valdosta, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) There has been much talk of Before Day Clubs in Lowndes and Echols counties, but it has been impossible in any instance to secure tangible evidence of the existence of such clubs, or to trace the rumors to their source. The negroes in every section of the south have, since slavery days, held before day prayer meetings at their church, and much of the talk of clubs to oppose the whites, no doubt, originated in this fact. The darkies are seen going to and from their churches at hours considered unseemly by the whites, and the most unwarranted reports are sent forth.

Every city, town and hamlet also has its negro lodges and benefit societies. It is necessary for these societies and lodges to have pass words and secret ceremonie in order to appeal to the mass of the negroes, whose love for such things is well known. The Grand United Order of the Sons and Daughters of Ham, the Disciples of the Bright and Shining Morning Star and innumerable other such societies contemplate no more harm to either race than the extraction of all of the initiation fees and dues possible from their members.

Clubs Denounced by Negroes.

Adrian, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) In spite of the fact that the most conservative white men did not believe a Before Day Club existed here, the sale of arms and ammunition indicated the popular feeling. Merchants say they cannot supply the demand for arms.

Under the leadership of William James, the colored teacher, a mass meeting of the negroes, at which a number of speeches were made by colored citizens, condemning Before Day clubs.

William James introduced the following resolutions, which were unanimously passed:

"Whereas, There is a rumor that there is a Before Day club in this town and section.

"Resolved 1. That w. the colored citizens in mass meeting take this method in assuring the white people that we are against Before Day clubs.

"Resolved 2. That we have no sympathy with the brutes who are members of race and committing these diabolical crimes, but we are willing to assist the white man in suppressing crime.

"Resolved 9. That we ask the whites to assost us in stamping out this rumor and let the world know that we are against anything that tends to stir up or irritate race hatred, for we realize that among the whites are some of our truest friends."

Albany Denounces "Bugaboo" Stories

Albany, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) There is a superabundance of "Before Day Club" "news" flying around in this part of the state just as there seems to be plenty of it, elsewhere, but in every instance, so far as this section is concerned, investigation has proved that their origin was in the fertile imagination of some excitable, irresponsible person.

One of the "rifle funerals" that have been cropping out in different localities was reported from Worth county a day or two ago. It came to the ears of representatives here of the state papers and the local press, but was not given publicity. It was related that a large coffin box had been interred with great display; that it was supposed to contai nthe body of a certain negro man who, report had it, had just died, but that investigation proved the said negro to be still alive and well, and that it could no longer be doubted that the coffin box contained rifles belonging to a Before Day club.

Inquiry has cleared up this fake story. It developed that the coffin box contained a coffin and that the coffin contained the lifeless body of the negro who was reported dead. There was a physician's certificate on the box and the physician, who lives in Albany, confirms the regularfty of the death and the funeral.

One of the prominent negro preachers of Albany has headed a call of well-known colored residents of the city for a meeting to be held at one of the colored churches for the purpose of arraying the better class of the colored race against this "negro bugaboo." The best negroes take no stock in the wild stories afloat and are going to try to take effective steps to have them suppressed.

Suicide at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., September 19.—John Ingram Alvis, a son of a prominent furniture dealer of Manchester, shot and killed himself today at his home. Brooding over ill health is supposed to have driven Alvis to end his life. He was 19 years old. Last night his aunt had in a dream a premonition of the suicide, which was fulfilled almost in every detail.

THEY HANGED HIM TO STUMP

Particulars of the Lynching of the Negro Near Royston.

Elberton, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The story in today's papers relative to the lynching near Royston yesterday proves to have been incorrect. A citizen of Royston, who was present during the trouble, gives the following account: The negro had threatened to kill Bill Royston, and Mr. Royston swore out a warrant for the negro.

A Mr. Snellings and some other parties went to the negro's house to arrest him. They found him in the yard with a double-barreled shotgun, but when they told him they had come to arrest him he said he would go, as he had nothing against them. They searched him and found no weapons on him, he giving his gun to his wife. He was put in a buggy and the party started to Royston. When they neared a piece of wood, where Mr. Daniel and some other persons were waiting, some one suggested tieing the negro, as he might get away in the woods. To this the negro stoutly rebelled and began scuffling. He had a pistol hidden in his right sleeve when he was searched. In the scuffle he shot Mr. Daniel once through the right lung and once in the abdomen, but the latter wound was slight. He was finally overpowered. The negro was taken to Royston and lodged in the calaboose.

Sunday morning the marshal of Royston and three others put the negro in a carriage and started to Carnesville jail with him. When they got out to the double bridges, a masked party of 150 men came up and demanded the prisoner. The officer in charge made a desperate effort to save the negro. Finally seeing they would get the negro, it is said, the officer told him to run. He was thereupon told by a member of the mob that if the negro ran they would shoot him. A noose was put around the negro's neck and thrown over a limb of a high stump on the side of the road, and he was pulled up and left to die. The negro was choked to death hanging to the stump. Dr. L. G. Hardman was called by 'phone from Commerce and cut the bullet out of Mr. Daniel, it having gone through his lung and lodged beneath the surface in the back. The doctor stated that there was some hope of Mr. Daniel's recovery. He is a son of Dr. George Daniel, of Danielsville, who was in the senate from this district a few years ago.

NEGRO HANGED AT FORSYTH

First Legal Execution in the County in Sixty Years.

Forsyth, Ga., September 19—.(Special.) Smith Brooks, a negro man, who was convicted at the August term of Monroe superior court, was hanged in the jail here today at 11:15 o'clock by Sheriff George Newton. The negro's neck was broken by the fall and death came in about six minutes.

This is the negro who, on the evening of the 25th of June, just after supper, went to the store of J. M. Maddox, of Brent, Ga., and after having some words with him, stabbed him to the heart with a knife. Mr. Maddox died in a few minutes. This is the second hanging that has ever occurred in Monroe county. The first was the hanging of a white man, which occurred about sixty years ago.

MARTIAL LAW AT BROXTON

Officers Will Disperse All Crowds On the Streets. Cause of Action.

Broxton, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) There has been so much excitement here among the negroes since the white primary last week for the nomination of county officers that the council met today and declared the city under martial law to prevent the congregating of people on the streets.

On Friday night the negroes held an indignation meeting over their being denied the right to vote and since that time they have been indulging in incendiary talk. Hence the action of council.

LARGE REWARD FOR LYNCHERS

Governor Offers $250 for Each Person Who Participated.

Makes His Position Clear and Will Do Everything Possible to Bring the Lynchers to Justice—Favorable Comment on Action.

Governor Terrell yesterday took a firm stand on the lynching question by offering a reward of $250 each for the arrest and conviction of any of the men who participated in the lynching of John Ware, the negro hung by a mob in Franklin county on Sunday afternoon.

Ware, the negro lynched by the mob, shot and killed C. Y. Daniel, a son of George Daniel, a prominent citizen of Danielsville. The shooting occurred as the result of a quarrel, growing out of a trivial dispute. Posses of citizens formed at once, for the news of the killing spread rapidly. Ware was captured and taken to jail at Danielsville.

Friends of the dead man, however, quickly aroused public wrath, and a mob was formed. An attempt was made by the sheriff to carry the negro to Carnesville for safe keeping. But the mob pursued the sheriff and his deputies, overtaking them on the road between Royston and Carnesville, and hanging Ware to the nearest tree.

An account of this incident was published in yesterday's issue of The Constitution, and the facts were stated officially in telegrams to the governor.

Governor Terrell took the matter under advisement at once, and determined to make his position clear, and also to do everything in his power to bring the lynchers to justice. He decided that the best method to pursue was an offer of as large rewards as possible for the arrest and conviction of members of the mob.

He summoned Secretary C. M. Hitch, of the executive department, to his private office and instructed him to draw an order offering a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of any person connected with the lynching. The order was immediately drawn and signed by the governor.

News of this action spread quickly over the capitol, and the governor was commended on all sides. It is generally believed that his action will be beneficial as a deterrent in the future.

HOW THE INDIANS LOOKED. THE ELEPHANTS IN LINE.

Some Scenes During the Parade of of Robinson's Circus Yesterday Morning.

GREAT CROWDS ATTENDED JOHN ROBINSON'S SHOWS

Two great crowds filled the big tents of the John Robinson shows yesterday for two performances and with as many more today the big show will leave Jackson and Boulevard streets and start on its journey north. Apparently everybody was more than pleased with the performance and they had every reason to be, for there was so much more to be seen than any one could see that nine-tenths of the audience were almost cross-eyed with their efforts to watch three rings, a platform, aerial acts and the funny clowns all at one and the same time. As for the other tenth, it was composed of little tots who were so dazed and dizzy with the splendor of it all that they were entirely oblivious to everything.

Of course, there were one or two who may not have enjoyed it—disgruntled old parties who never had any excuse to take to the circus of their own and were too mean to take some neighbor's little excuse and show it the happiest time of all the year. And then the clowns yesterday—there were never such queer, funny looking, grimly painted Pierrots who were simply boiling over with humor that leaked out all through the performance most entertainingly in grotesque pantomime. That baseball game of theirs, for instance, simply never was such a baseball game and every little tot simply went into hysterics from the time it started until the last inning.

Perhaps the greatest features of the show were the big acts of the company of trained elephants under the direction of Tim Buckley and the beautiful calico horse ridden by Miss Gertrude. Either of these acts was sufficient in itself to have guaranteed satisfaction. In the rings the talent was well up and many novelties in bareback riding were introduced that brought forth merited applause. Clever specialties in all of the other branches that go to make up the big circus of today were also included and the programme was one that more than sustained the interest of each and every one, although it would require many performances to see the whole show in detail.

At one stage of the game fourteen men and women were "doing stunts" on the flying rings, trapeze, slack wire and other apparati, and this was only a sample of the bewildering amount of acts that were given.

The big show opens with a spectacular production of King Solomon and the queen of Sheba.

Probably very few people know what a gorgeous tea party this was that occurred between their majesties back in Biblical times. If yesterday's reproduction can be taken as a cryterion, the affair must have been one of truly Oriental splendor, for when the much-bearded king swung his sceptre it was to have fifty ballet girls and cohorts of soldiery do him honor with an obeisance, while the dancers tripped the light fantastic to music by the brass band. As no one remembers the feast portrayed, there may be some doubt as to the realism so far as minor details are concerned, but one thing was certain, the people seemed to enjoy it. In fact, enjoyment was the only act repeated but this came back again and again from the spectacular extravaganza to the final hippodrome races. But the best of all was the acre on acre of happy little faces that surrounded the big race track and the written marks of pleasure on the faces of the grown-ups which proved that they had come to the circus in the right spirit, and were growing younger in consequence.

MANY THINGS COUNCIL DID

Circus Tax Reduced and Paving Ordinance Adopted Yesterday.

The circus tax was cut half in two by council yesterday for the John Robinson circus, so that it is permitted to exhibit in Atlanta two days for $500, instead of $500 a day as the ordinance requires. "It's such a little circus," was, in effect, the argument put up in behalf of the reduction. Albert Howell, Jr., appeared for the circus, and made a strong speech urging favorable action.

Peters' Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Councilman Peters as councilman from the sixth ward, to take effect December 31, was transmitted to council by Mayor Howell, and was accepted. In seconding the motion of Alderman Harwell to accept the resignation, as it was a promotion for Mr. Peters, Councilman Quillian said that council would pledge its support to Mr. Peters for the position of alderman from the eighth ward.

Wants Right of Way.

The Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad filed a petition with council stating that it desired to secure a right of way for its tracks through the city dumping grounds, near Bellwood. The road desires to secure a strip 100 feet wide, and amounting in all to nearly five acres. The road made no offer for the property. The petition was referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds.

Girls' High School Annex.

A resolution reported by the finance committee authorizing the board of education to secure bids on the construction of an annex or addition to the Girls' High school building, on Washington street, at a cost not to exceed $10,000, was adopted by council.

Liquor Ordinance Killed.

Council adopted the adverse report of the police committee on the Hillburn ordinance providing for an extension of the liquor limits to take in the block bounded by Hunter, Madison, Mitchell and Forsyth streets. This kills the ordinance.

Made Rice Street Again.

Council adopted an ordinance repealing the ordinance changing the name of Rice street to Forrest avenue. The reason for this is that Forrest avenue has been extended through to the Boulevard, and there was no necessity for two Forrest avenues.

Madison Avenue Paving.

An ordinance providing for the paving of Madison avenue from Peters street to Alabama street with small granite blocks on concrete foundation, was read and referred to the finance committee. It was also ordered advertised. This paving will cost the city about $7,300, property owners about $14,000 and the street railway company about $900.

Mitchell Street Paving.

It was also shown that the Bremen's drum corps has been one of the best advertisements Atlanta has ever had. The matter will go to the aldermanic board on Thursday.

WHO WILL GET FARBEN BENNETT

Army Thinks It Entitled To Him—Governor Wants Requisition.

Savannah, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—There bids fair to be a great fight in the courts over the Farben Bennett, the recruit of the United States army who was arrested yesterday on a charge of being an escaped convict from South Carolina. Bennett killed his wife at Brunson, S. C., a few weeks ago accidentally, he claims, and as the coroner's jury held. Sheriff Lights, of Brunson, says Bennett's daughter tells a story of a quarrel her father and mother had before the shooting.

Todya Lieutenant Moore, recruiting officer of the United States, notified the police to hold Bennett for his order. He has communicated with the authorities at Washington and thinks the army is entitled to the recruit. Governor Terrell today directed the police not to deliver Bennett, but to hold him for a requisition.

TOOK MORPHINE BUT WILL LIVE

Samuel Ogletree Taken to Hospital in Unconscious Condition.

Samuel Ogletree, a young man about twenty-six years old, whose father is at the head of the Phoenix planing mill, was carried to Grady hospital at an early hour yesterday morning from his residence, 12 Gilmer street, after chewing morphine tablets and swallowing them.

When asked why he took the drug he replied that he had been drinking and was worried over financial reverses.

He is now resting easily, although in a serious condition. When carried from his home he was unconscious.

Mr. Ogletree says when he went home at an early hour yesterday morning, he staggered and offered her some morphine tablets from a bottle. She knocked the bottle from his hand, and the tablets scattered over the floor. He snatched some of them, put them in his mouth and began to chew vigorously. He swallowed the drug before she could prevent him.

H. E. Morgan, another young man, who resides at 57 Randolph street, took an overdose of laudanum yesterday morning with supposed suicidal intent. An ambulance of the Grady hospital went to the corner of Hunnicutt and Marietta streets for him. He told the hospital physicians that he had drank 2 ounces of laudanum, and that he did it because he had financial difficulties.

He is an iron molder and is married. Morgan left the hospital yesterday morning about 8 o'clock.

MANNING LEAPED INTO THE WATER

Suicide of Brunswick Man at Savannah Yesterday.

Savannah, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—T. C. Manning, formerly commercial agent for the Brunswick and Birmingham railroad at Brunswick, committed suicide here this afternoon, leaping from the deck of the river steamer Louise. His body was recovered after a search had been instiuted by the Elks, of which order Manning was a member.

Manning walked into the office of the Louise, removed his outer garments, his watch and other contents of his pockets. These he left with two telegrams to be sent respectively to the manager of the Oglethorpe hotel, at Brunswick, and his wife, also in that city. These stated that he could keep up the struggle no longer and that he chose death in preference. Unobserved until the splash attracted attention, he leaped from the deck of the vessel. No aid could have been given him.

Since September 15, Manning had been out of employment and had grown despondent because of that.

Information from Brunswick reveals the fact that Manning formerly lived in St. Louis, where he was commercial agent for the Louisville and Nashville railroad. He was married in that city, and his wife still lives there, as Manning himself told the Elks at Brunswick some two months after he had joined the order. They investigated and found his statement to be true. Manning's real name was Thomas C. Mannion. He had assumed the name of Manning. He had a cork leg. He married his present wife at New Orleans about 18 months ago. She is prostrated by the news of his suicide.

SPURIOUS SILVER DOLLARS.

Five Counterfeit Coins Detected at Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—No less than five counterfeit silver dollars were presented at the windows of the Columbus postoffice today for the purchase of stamps, money orders, etc. The money was tendered by reputable parties in good faith, they having no idea that it was not genuine. One of the dollars was passed off on the conductor of a railroad entering Columbus, who is usually expert in detecting counterfeit money. The counterfeit coins are almost perfect, except that they do not have the true ring, and it was this fact that caused the fraud to be detected by the postoffice clerks.

Chairman Taggart Says Outlook for Victory Is Good.

After Trip to Indiana He Reports That Democratic Affairs Are in Good Shape—Prospect in the East is Also Pleasing, Taggart Says.

Chicago, September 19.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the democratic national committee, arrived in Chicago today. This is the first visit of the national chairman to Chicago since he took his office as the party's manager and marks the beginning of the democratic campaign in Illinois. Democratic leaders from all parts of the state are here to meet him and a number of local democrats greeted him at the railway station.

Chairman Taggart spent the day in conference with democratic leaders at the Sherman house. In response to questions he said:

"If the heartiness of democrats manifested since my arrival here is any indication of the political conditions I would say that the democratic outlook is excellent. I have just spent three days in Indiana and find democratic affairs in that state in fine shape. I am also able to say that in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and West Virginia and the east generally the prospect is such as to cheer the democratic heart."

Replying to a question as to the truthfulness of a report that he had been practically supplanted as chairman, Mr. Taggart entered an emphatic denial, saying that the national party leaders are working in the utmost harmony. He declined to make an announcement as to campaign plans in the west until his return to New York.

"I will consult with the leaders here," he said, "give careful attention to what they say and will arrive at a conclusion by the time I reach headquarters in New York."

It is learned, however, that Mr. Taggart's present inclinations are unfavorable to branch headquarters at any point in the west, his opinion being that the work can be best done from New York through state committees.

"The situation in New York is all that we could want," said Chairman Taggart. "Indiana is in the best condition for democratic victory I have seen since 1892. Bryan men, Hearst men and silver men are united with all other democrats in laboring for party triumph."

"Is Illinois, in your opinion, debatable grounds?" the leader was asked.

"It is if the democrats are harmonious," was the reply. "I am here to find out about that. I think things are progressing finely from what I have learned."

John W. Kern, democratic nominee for governor of Indiana, was among the prominent democrats who accompanied Chairman Taggart to Chicago.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

Agrees With Him About Food.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts food that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients.

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick) and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For fever patients or those on liquid diet, I find 'Grape-Nuts and albumen water very nourishing and refreshing.' This recipe is my own idea and is made as follows: Soak a teaspoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice for flavoring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress.

"My husband is a physician, and he uses Grape-Nuts himself and orders it many times for his patients.

"Personally I regard a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for any one—well or sick." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

In any case of stomach trouble, nervous prostration or brain fag, a ten days' trial of Grape-Nuts will work wonders toward nourishing and rebuilding, and in this way ending the trouble. "There's a reason" and trial proves.

Nelson Street Bridge Proposal Goes Back to Committee.

Councilman Dug Up Old Contract Which Shows the Railroads Must Maintain the Bridge. City Has to Do Only With the Roadway Across It.

Back to the joint committee on streets and bridges again goes the Nelson street bridge proposal, this time because there has been brought to light the old contract between the city and the Central of Georgia railroad, or what was then the Central Railroad and Banking Company, which shows that in all the statements made of this matter that contract has been misunderstood.

The committees which have had the matter in charge have been proceeding on the assumption that the present bridge was put up by the railroad company on the condition that the city should perpetually maintain it. The actual contract provides that the city shall perpetually maintain the roadway across the bridge, and says nothing about the city maintaining the bridge itself.

The last proposition submitted on this subject provided that in consideration of the right to use the property under Nelson street from Madison avenue to the bridge, the Southern railway should build and perpetually maintain an entire new bridge, with the exception that the city would pay for half of that portion of the new structure necessary to replace the present bridge, or, in other words, the city would pay for about 70 feet of the new bridge, which would cost about $10,000. The privilege was still given to close the street for nine months, and it was also provided that the grade of the new bridge should not be over 4 per cent.

Councilman Hilburn offered an amendment providing that the Southern railway should be required to pay for the whole bridge as well as its maintenance. The road was getting a valuable privilege, he said, and only on that condition would he consent to the proposition.

Alderman Woodward strongly opposed the proposition. He objected to the increased grade as well as to the fact that the railroad was not required to pay for the entire bridge.

Councilman Terrell, who favored the proposition, charged that Alderman Woodward had always opposed any plan looking to improvements in the first ward.

Alderman Woodward dissented, and began to enumerate the things he had done for the first ward.

"I beg the gentleman's pardon," said Councilman Terrell, "I believe he did help get the crematory established in the first ward."

Councilman Carter opposed the proposition on the ground that the present bridge is ample for the city's needs, and will last for fifteen or twenty years.

Councilman Amorous then brought to light the old contract relating to the bridge, and after some further discussion his motion to recommit the matter was adopted by a vote of 10 to 8.

This will necessitate Mr. Daniel's resignation as a member of the city sub-committee from the seventh ward.

At a meeting held in Judge Puckett's court room last night, attended by fifty citizens, a resolution was adopted indorsing O. H. Starnes for councilman from the fifth ward. Among those who made speeches were J. Sid Holland, candidate for alderman from the third ward; J. E. Warren, candidate for alderman from the third ward; H. F. THIEF SECURES DIAMOND RINGS

Twelve Jewels Taken from Whitehall Store Yesterday.

Lain-Edwards Jewelry Store, on the Viaduct, Was Scene of Remarkable and Mysterious Robbery About 10 O'Clock Yesterday Morning.

Twelve diamond rings valued at $100 each were stolen yesterday morning about 10 o'clock from the Sain-Edwards jewelry store on the Whitehall viaduct. Three or four clerks are said to have been in the place of business at the time, some of them stepping out at intervals to watch the circus parade, which was passing. Henry Jenkins, a negro porter foh the store, has been arrested and placed in a cell at police barracks charged with ehe crime.

The proprietors of the store say that they know the djamonds were not missing before the parade passed, and they missed the rings afterwards.

The person who secured the rings had to go to the rear of the store ot get behind the counter, before the show case from which the valuables were taken was reached. It is said that one of the clerks at the desk in the rear at the time the jewelry was stolen.

The proprietors say that they do not know who could have stolen the goods.

Detective Steint says he does not believe that the negro stole the jewelry. Mr. Steint stated last night that he believed some one employed in the store other than Jenkins stole the rings. He says Jenkins told him that no one in the store except him had been searched.

Deportation papers were fixed up today and given the Celestials.

PROTEST MADE AGAINST POOLS

Piedmont Park Brings on Warm Discussion in Council.

Fight Is Made on Proposition to Permit Sale of Liquor and Pools During Two Weeks of Racing—Resolution Goes Back to Committee.

Considerable stir was caused in council yesterday by a proposition to permit the selling of pools on horse races and the sale of liquor at Piedmont park during two weeks of racing in October, for which purpose certain parties want to lease the park from the city provided they can secure the privileges stated.

Prior to the meeting of council the police and ordinance committees, to which had been referred the resolution introduced by Councilman Holland, held a meeting and passed favorably on the proposition. There appeared before the committee to urge favorable action, Joseph Thompson, Jack Horner, Charley Jones and James Lynch. These were also in the council chamber during the discussion of the subject, which was finally referred back to the committees named on motion of Councilman Quillian, with a view to giving the opponents of the proposition an opportunity to be heard if they desired to do so.

The proposition is this: Certain parties have arranged to have a two weeks' horse racing meet at Piedmont park in October under the auspices, they state, of the Western Jockey club, provided they can secure the privilege of selling pools on the races at the track and selling liquor during the racing period. Otherwise they do not want to lease the park. If their terms are complied with they agree to pay the city $30 a day for the use of the park, and besides this one quarter's license would also be paid for the privilege of selling liquor. This would net the city a total of $700.

Dr. Holderby Is Heard.

Dr. A. R. Holderby, by permission of council, spoke against granting the privilege. This he had been delegated to do by the Atlanta Ministers' association.

"I was surprised," Dr. Holderby said, "to receive the other day a letter from a well known Atlantan, stating that this matter would come up in council today, particularly in view of the fact that I thought the supreme court had decided that pool selling was gaming, and had interdicted it. I thought you were all aware that the supreme court had decided once for all against this sort of thing, and I am here to remind you of that decision."

Dr. Holderby stated that he represented about 30,000 members of Christian churches in Atlanta, and about 175 churches. He pointed out the temptation that pool selling puts in the way of young men and strongly appealed to council to vote down the resolution.

Alderman Woodward asked if the supreme court's decision was not against pool rooms and several councilmen replied in the affirmative.

Alderman Inman briefly stated his opposition to the resolution calling attention to the opposition of a large number of the good people of the city.

Councilman Goodwin opposed the resolution because he did not think the horse races at Piedmont park were conducted fairly.

Councilman Holland wanted the resolution passed because he thought money was needed for the improvement of Piedmont park.

Can Sell Park at a Profit.

"I don't think the fact that we have got Piedmont park on our hands should be the cause of getting us into any more trouble," said Councilman Carter.

"We can get it off our hands at a good profit," said Councilman Amorous.

"Then I am in favor of selling it," replied Councilman Carter.

Councilman Carter did not think the city should lease its property for any such purposes for the pitiful sum of $700.

Councilman Peters favored the resolution because the privilege had been granted on many occasions before in connection with fairs and he could see no harm to come from it.

Councilman Quillian said he could never give his assent to any such cold-blooded proposition as that which practically provided that the city should go into partnership with an outside concern in the pool selling and the liquor selling business. The city had better sell the park and get rid of it than use it for any such purpose as this.

Wanted a Little Freedom.

Alderman Woodward urged the passage of the resolution. The ordinances against pool selling and liquor selling at the park had been suspended for fairs, he said, and he saw no reason why it should not be done now.

"We've got too much law now," he said, "and I believe in a little freedom. Some of the city's officers, those who dispense justice and others go out there and play golf on Sunday. Is that any worse than this?

"Some of the people who make the biggest howl about this sort of thing belong to the clubs here, where they can get their pleasure at any time. Why, I expect if you go up to the Capital City Club you will find a poker game going on most any time, and the police never raid it."

Councilman Amorous said he desired to correct the alderman on this proposition. He had been a member of the Capital City Club for years, he said, and he had not only never seen, but had never heard of a poker game or any other game of chance being played there.

"Well, it's been terribly belied, then," replied Alderman Woodward, "for I have heard that report for several years."

Councilman Amorous said he was opposed to the pool room business, but could see no harm in permitting the sale of pools on the track right where the races were being run for a period of only two weeks during the year. It takes all sorts of people to make a big city, he said, and there is a certain class who demand some pleasure and recreation of this kind.

"Will the city for the miserable pittance of $700 lease its own property for a pool selling and a barroom business? That's the clean-cut proposition," said Councilman Carter.

Wanted No Gambling.

"Is the city going to sell itself out to a lot of gamblers whom we have been trying to catch?" asked Alderman Girardeau. "I understand one of the very men we have been trying to catch is interested in this matter. Did we buy Piedmont park for gambling purposes? No, sir, we did not, and I for one will fight this proposition to the last ditch. I am not willing to sell the moral integrity of the city for $700."

Alderman Woodward said he did not propose to hear some of the best citizens of Atlanta abused in any such manner without speaking in their defense.

Some of Atlantas' best and most prominent citizens, he said, had been before council and asked the same privilege that was being asked now, and council had granted it.

"These men who come here today do not represent the moral integrity or the Christian people of the town," declared Alderman Girardeau. When Alderman Woodward proves that they do, then I will withdraw what I have said."

Councilman Quillian said he thought council should respect the views of a large number of the population who had not had a chance to be heard in the matter. He moved, therefore, that the resolution be referred back to the police and ordinance committees. This motion was carried by 10 to 8, the vote practically representing the attitude of council on the resolution. If it had come to a vote, it is believed it would have been defeated.

Catarrh is an innocent appearing thing to the inexperienced, and many people think that because it creeps along so gradual that it is merely annoying and offensive, but not dangerous. There never was a greater mistake; and to the skilled practitioner and even the scientific specialist it is looked upon as a monster of the greatest type. With a start in the head, it gnaws its way to the nostrils and if neglected becomes chronic. With the nose clogged and sore, and, perhaps, the sense of smell destroyed and that of hearing badly effected, it stealthily feeds it way to the throat, thence to the lungs, and here you are confronted with the diabolical, ghastly fact that Consumption has developed and your case is hopeless.

Don't trifle with Catarrh—don't court the icy hand of Consumption of which Catarrh is the advance guard. Another Blow at Georgia's Sovereignty.

Another blow at Georgia's sovereignty, another crime against the state we love! This time Franklin county is the scene, and, if we read the reports aright, a mob from Madison county the offender.

What's to be done about it? What are the people of Franklin and Madison counties and the officials of this state going to do? We know the people of Madison and Franklin counties; we know that the vast majority of them are peaceful and law-loving and law-abiding. Are they going to rest under the imputation that the law has no strength in their section; that their civilization is a failure? We are confident they will not. We are confident they will do everything in their power to bring to punishment the men who have placed them and their civilization under the ban. For there never was a clearer case, if the reports from the scene be true, of wanton usurpation of the state's rights and powers; there was never a more patent case of mob murder.

Here it is in a nutshell: After a quarrel, one man shot another; the bullet, if the reports be true, "inflicted a wound which will cause death;" the man who did the shooting was captured by the sheriff and was a prisoner in the hands of the state of Georgia; men who had absolutely no right to assume to themselves the functions of avengers took the prisoner from the sheriff and killed him.

The excuse of lynching for the nameless crime is wanting in this case. So is every other possible or conceivable excuse. There could be no complaint of the law's delay; there could be no warrant for any assumption that the courts would not see that full justice was done. In Solicitor General David Meadow, whose home is in Madison county, the state has one of its ablest and most fearless prosecuting officers; Judge H. M. Holden, who presides over the northern circuit, is one of the state's ablest judges. There is nothing in the record of either of these officials to give ground to the remotest suspicion that the negro guilty of this shooting would not have been punished to the fullest extent of the law. The sheriff of Madison county demonstrated his determination to hold the prisoner at all hazards. Why, then, a lynching?

Surely, for no other possible reason than that the most brutal instincts took possession of the mob. The lynching spirit, defended in cases of criminal assault, has spread. Condone lynching for any one crime, and, as is here demonstrated, the mob spirit seizes upon that fact for excuse to overthrow the law upon other prvoocations. Here is the illustration.

Are Georgians willing to pay the price of this sort of thing?

The Constitution took occasion, on Sunday, to point to some of the more practical questions involved in this great question. We are not at all surprised to learn, as told in a dispatch from New York, that the managers of the democratic national campaign are greatly discouraged by these reports of lynchings at the south, which furnish the republicans with the most effective campaign material. If they are to continue, we are told, the democratic leaders will feel very much like closing up headquarters and going out of business; which is not at all surprising.

But this, it is needless to say, is, perhaps, the least important of the dangers which flow from this disregard of the law. Better lose a hundred elections than destroy the civilization of the state, and there can be no civilization worthy the name where there is disregard for the law.

Once again we ask: Are the people of Georgia willing to pay the price of continuance of mob violence?

The Mistakes of Justice.

We often hear expressed skepticism of the correctness of court decisions, particularly in cases involving circumstantial evidence. In the very nature of things, justice under such circumstances must be largely hit and miss. Judicial mistakes, not to say crimes, of the kind would fill a law library if the truth could be known.

The case of Adolph Beck, now agitating legal circles in England, is a notable example in point. Beck was given a five years' sentence for the crime of another, and, after having served it, five additional years on another count in the same case. He had served but a short time of the second term when his innocence was established quite by accident and he was released. As pecuniary salve for the wrong done him, the government offered him a "consolation" of $10,000 cash, the condition being that the ex-convict never disclose the secret to a soul or institute legal proceedings of any nature to seek redress of the wrong. This Beck refused, and England is ringing with the details of a monumental miscarriage of justice.

Beck's case was simply one of mistaken identity. Another man, who seems to have been his physical double, committed the crime. At the time of the first conviction the victim of the law's mistake exerted every power at his command to be allowed to produce evidence tending to establish an alibi, but the court ruled rather arbitrarily against him. This is the chief ground of the present public censure. Last July the man for whose crimes Beck had suffered was arrested for exactly the same kind of fraud, and this fact, together with the man's striking personal resemblance to Beck, which the Scotland Yard detectives were shrewd enough to notice, caused a rigid police investigation, resulting in the complete establishment of the wronged convict's innocence. The real culprit finally made a full confession.

It is being pointed out that this case has an important bearing on the necessity of the recognition of the principle involved in the right of appeal, a right that Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court, would abrogate in the interest of more speedy justice and to appease the rash spirit of mob violence. It is exceedingly difficult to appeal a case in an English court, and in the present instance Beck pleaded vainly for the reopening of his case. It is fair to presume that a second trial would have enabled him to establish the alibi he declared he could establish, and English justice would have been spared the shock of the present painful exposure.

The Juvenile Court.

Having been on trial but a few months in Atlanta, the juvenile court is as yet largely experimental, and its great possibilities are hardly appreciated by even its most earnest friends. We must go to some of the larger cities of the country, where this philanthropic reform has been given a fair trial for a number of years, to thoroughly understand its efficacy, both morally and materially. The juvenile court is not only a truly reformative institution, but, economically, it is more than self-supporting when properly conducted.

Probably the model juvenile court of the world is in Denver, Col., where the system has been perfected into almost an exact science. The man who is chiefly responsible for this signal success, is Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who presides over the tribunal with a zeal born of consecration to a life-work. Not content with making his own court a model, Judge Lindsey has helped to organize similar courts in nearly every state of the union, and his services as an organizer and speaker on the subject are in great demand. He has delivered three helpful addresses in Georgia. Judge Lindsey is chairman of the national committee on juvenile courts, the prime object of which is to urge the adoption of juvenile court laws in all the states, to be uniform, in so far as practicable, in principle and application. Colorado is the first state to have a general law of the kind, and after two years of active enforcement it has proved eminently practical and satisfactory. The commitee in question seeks—

To bring about a practical, sensible and sane method of administrative work through the agendies of such courts in the correction of children offenders, avoiding the dangers of leniency on the one hand and brutality on the other.

It especially urges—

Laws holding parents and others to a rigid, legal accountability for the moral delinquencies of children.

The establishment of detention homes or schools in place of the jail for children offenders.

The encouragement of personal, practical, active work and earnest interest to bring about correction, as far as possible, through aid, help, encouragement, proper firmness and assistance, rather than punishment, fear, hate and degradation.

So universal is the recognition of Judge Lindsey's great juvenile work in Denver that he is nominated by both political parties for county judge term after term, the county court of Denver being also the juvenile court. In a recent official report of this court it is shown that in three years sufficient money was collected from litigants in the civil division of the Denver county court to pay the salary of the judge, all the clerks and the probation officers and returned to the county over $10,000 cash, so that instead of the taxpayers of the city and county or state paying one cent to save over $270,000 by the work of the juvenile court alone in three years, in addition to 95 per cent of its delinquent children, as shown by this remarkable official report, the taxpayers of Denver, were actually paid by the court and received into the county treasury over $10,000 in the doing of this noble work.

This result is largely attributable to the state law, spoken of in the foregoing, which holds parents to strict legal accountability for certain moral lapses in their children. Adults are directly responsible for the bulk of juvenile criminality and misdemeanors. The report in question goes on to show that in one year the boys brought to the juvenile court by officers for offenses have themselves not only been successfully corrected, but in addition have become helpers in the work of minimizing juvenile transgressions by removing the cause. "Rightly directed," says the report, "they have turned upon their enemies and helped to smash the causes." For example, they have prosecuted, convicted and fined or sent to jail through the juvenile court of Denver on "adult days" more men for violating such laws for the protection of childhood, as forbidding the sale of cigarettes, tobacco, liquor, immoral literature, dangerous firearms, etc., and for permitting them to enter saloons and immoral places, than have all the combined forces of the sheriff's and police departments in all the courts in any ten years of Denver's history. This will explain the source of the great revenue derived from the operation of the Denver juvenile court.

The report adds:

The work by the boys has cost practically nothing. Even in the past year when we have had to send only eighteen or twenty, out of several hundred of them, to the State Industrial school, they have without exception received from the judge their own warrants, taken the train alone and, without the slightest surveillance or suspicion thereof, delivered themselves to the superintendent, returned their own writs, showing its faithful execution, and thus not only saved to the county a large amount of money in mileage fees and services of officers, but to the state of Colorado good friends and citizens of tomorrow. We have asked, by the way, that this money be given to the faithful (bad?) boys, since it was saved from the sheriff.

The Denver juvenile court system is quite elaborate, and various methods of reform are resorted to before an incorrigible boy is committed to the state reformatory. Everything possible is done to appeal to the better side of the young offender's nature—and it is a bad boy, indeed, who has not a good side. Thrift and industry are encouraged by sending the boys out in gangs to the Colorado beet fields, where, under charge of a probation officer, they weed the sugar beets and are given the full amount of the remuneration received for their services.

So well is the Denver system, and so admirably is it supported by the state law, that Atlanta would do well to make a special study of it and the general assembly of Georgia would do well to follow the example of the Colorado legislature and enact a law of parental and adult accountability.

The juvenile court is a good thing, and it has come to stay.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To Aid Freight Rate Fight.

Editor Constitution: We desire to express our appreciation and hearty approval of the position you have taken with regard to what might be termed the question of "Georgians for Georgia."

We trust that our railroad commission will continue the work begun and grant the relief asked for by the Atlanta Freight Bureau, which will be helpful to every citizen of Georgia to a greater extent than is generally imagined.

The next prosposition is for the citizens of Georgia, both as consumers and as buyers for retail stores, to give to the Georgia manufacturers and wholesale dealers, their entire business and thus strengthen the hands of those who are behind this "revival" movement on the question of freight rates.

If they will do this, the question of Georgia's future as to freight rates will be very much simplified, because the railroads will find such an increase in the volume of business handled through Georgia's distributing centers that they could hardly be driven back to their present position of endeavoring to collect as high freight charges as possible.

The transportation companies would be immensely benefited by hearty cooperation with the business men, who are members of the Atlanta Freight Bureau and who are giving their time and money to help the commercial and manufacturing industries in the state of Georgia.

No "Before Day Clubs."

Editor Constitution: I wish to correct the false impression that has gone out about the "Before Day" clubs. There has never been a greater injustice done the colored people of this community than the charge of their holding "Before Day" club meetings with any vile intentions. I work about 90 per cent of the colored labor along the line of the Wadley and Mt. Vernon railway and don't know of a more quiet and peaceable and law-abiding set of negroes than we have in this section. Of course we have a few vagrant cases, and when such cases are discovered we take them up and give them the full benefit of the Calvin bill.

If every community would adopt this plan they would have less trouble with that class of negroes.

"Where Lynch Law May Lead."

Editor Constitution: Please accept my hearty indorsement of every word of your most able and timely editorial in yesterday's Constitution headed "Where Lynch Law May Lead." It has the proper ring from start to finish, and will do much toward quieting my people. They had almost reached a state of terror in the cities as well as in the country. I trust this is only a beginning of a number of such editorials from yours and other great dailies of the nation on such topics. You may rest assured that in your labors for the supremacy of the law and the reign of order, you will have the support of all good colored citizens.

The blue pencil on much matter sent in by some thoughtless reporters would do much toward causing them to look for real news and, not sit in their rooms creating stories that blast the hopes of a race, damage the community from which they write and add nothing to their ability as newspaper correspondents.

Georgia and Immigration.

Editor Constitution: Anent the present discussion of immigration and your recent editorial on O. P. Austin's wide-open policy and Professor R. De. C. Ward's pessimism it seems to me one is as far from the correct line as the other. Just such theorists as O. P. Austin are the ones who give Professor Ward a chance to write as does he. It does not seem to me to be worthy of argument; that any true American wants this country deluged with a worthless anarchistic set of foreigners, or even the industrious Chinamen. Note the western coast states. On the other hand, it seems to me it is an analogous case of one's taking into the stomach a miscellaneous lot of apparently wholesole food, but which is often found to cause great pain and only to be relieved by a violent emetic. One's "liver, lungs and bile" gets out of order trying to assimilate such an incongruous diet.

However, we do want good food. Want that class of immigrants, as for example, many of our German and Swiss people here in Habersham county and these Finlanders taken to south Georgia. Not one of these people over 10 years of age, but can read and write. On this line one can find very instructive reading in the last United States census showing a comparison between this state and any of the northwestern states, where 55 to 70 per cent of the people are either foreign born or of foreign born parents. Note our state's illiteracy as compared with these. While people to be compared. Also note the public school system and money voted for that purpose.

The most progressive states in the union are those who have taken this foreign population of the right kind and assimilated them, and nowhere are there more patriotic citizens. Just as long as the policy prevails of opposing these strictly first-class people, just so long will Georgia show her large per cent of untilled acres and the tendency to bring up the rear end in the procession of states, which I am opposed to, for I believe having double the incentive of any of these northwestern states, she should lead the procession.

GOV. TERRELL COMMENDS CONSTITUTION EDITORIAL

GOVERNOR TERRELL.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: Permit me to extend to you my hearty thanks for that magnificent editorial upon the lynching evil which appeared in Sunday's issue of your paper. I am sure it reflects the sentiments of all thinking people in Georgia and throughout the south. You perform a distinct service to the state and southern civilization when you point out not only the evils but the great dangers involved in lynch law.

Even thinking people too often overlook the heavy penalty involved in advertising to the world that Georgia is unable to maintain the law within her borders.

As you say, it is an intensely practical question. If the mob spirit is not suppressed the state will be deeply injured in the many ways you have indicated. I am sure I voice the sentiments of all law loving and law abiding people in this state when I say that I indorse every word of that editorial.

JOSEPH M. TERRELL,
Governor of Georgia.

Atlanta, Sept. 19, 1904.

A SON'S TRIBUTE TO A VETERAN FATHER

(W. J. Neel, in Rome Tribune.)

That confederate reunion brought rare, sweet experiences to me. The marching of the old gray veterans on Broad street sent a thrill through the blood that had never been felt before.

The reunion brought a special joy that was even sweeter than the sight of old veterans marching to the music of "Dixie." Among that great throng of grand men was one who to me was preeminent. A modest old man he was, with bent form and furrowed face and gray hair, now nearly eighty years old; but with loyal heart and unconquered spirit, still loving his comrades and the cause for which they fought with yearning tenderness—my own father.

How glad and proud I was to have him with me; to walk beside him and feel the pressure of his arm; to see him meet and greet the boys and note the flash of eye and glow of face as old friendships were renewed and old memories recalled!

And then at evening, on the veranda of our home, to have him sit with us as the honored guest and hear him tell of the old days that tried men's souls, was a privilege and a delight that cannot be put into words.

When bedtime came I whispered to my wife that I wanted to sleep with him, as I used to do in childhood days. With a woman's quick perception, she understood this desire, and slipped away to prepare the room and fix the bed, so everything would be fresh and sweet for this guest who comes to us so rarely, but who is so deeply loved. And after we were in bed she came again, softly and quietly, to make sure we were snug and comfortable, and to kiss us good night!

After the stir and excitement of the day the old veteran slept well. In the far hours of the night I awoke and found his arm about me, as it used to be when I snuggled close to him in the long past baby days. I could hear his deep breathing and I knew he was sound asleep. I think he must have dreamed about his boy and placed his arm unconsciously about me.

Memory got busy then, and I recalled the first time I had ever seen my father to remember him. It was one night, in sixty-three or four, after the little family was all in bed, that old Rover gave an unusual bark, and my mother's quick ear caught a familiar foot-fall on the walk; and she was up like a flash. I remember how I was suddenly awakened, with the glad exclamation, "Children, your father's come!" And I was caught up out of bed by a tall, rugged man, dressed in a gray uniform, and wearing a cap, who hugged me until I was almost breathless, and called me his baby! How grand he looked in my childish eyes that night, and how I clung to him in wonder and delight! This was the father who had been to the war, of whom my mother daily talked and sung, and for whom she nightly prayed, and who was to come back some day to make us glad!

All this, and more, came rushing back to me last Thursday night, as I lay there in bed, with that same dear father's arm about me in loving embrace; and there came to me a baptism of sacred joy not often vouchased to men in middle life. I remembered the couplet:

"Backward, turn backward
Oh, Time, in your flight,
And make me a boy again,
Just for one night."

And to me the prayer of the poet was fully realized; I was just a child again, resting happily against my father's bosom!

No wonder the tears came in that silent hour, and the heart beat fast and the blood leaped and thrilled in my veins! It was to me a happy time that bathed and refreshed the soul, and brought grateful thanksgiving that in the years of mature manhood I could still have him with me and could still feel the pressure of his dear old arms about me, and realize that the thrill and glow of childish love had been strengthened and sanctified and made more sure by the passing years.

Do you wonder, then, that this reunion has made me glad?

WILL J. NEEL.

GHOSTS AND HOBGOBLINS.

The "Before Day Club" Scare in South Has Little Foundation.

(From The Raleigh Times.)

The Before Day Club, from a North Carolina viewpoint, is decidedly overworked by certain newspapers.

It is wonderful to note the keenness of some editors to magnify the extent of this organization of negroes. Where there is any real ground for fear of this organization, it's well enough; in fact, very necessary, that it should be investigated, and exterminated. But to be writing of this thing in a reckless and groundless manner, is to injure not only the negro race, which has always, whether from fear or otherwise, been unusually clear of such organizations, but it is calculated to impede the material progress of the entire south, and to prejudice men against coming here with their capital and their families, with a view of making their homes among us. The Before Day Club of Statesboro, Ga., if it existed at all, will make a page of history in this country, as rare and as isolated as "Nat's insurrection in Virginia," three-quarters of a century ago. We want to hatch no ghosts, no hobgoblins. It can only have one effect, and that is to turn capital and good men in another direction, when we might sell them a home with us. The negroes worked for and defended our mothers, wives and sisters while their natural protectors fought to perpetuate their slavery. Few, very few, proved treacherous and vicious. Some now are no more than brutes, unworthy to live, but these North Carolina will hang by due process of law. But these are the exceptions; the negroes, for the most part, respect every white man who is worthy of respect, and in all of our history of reconstruction, and when the negroes were being divorced from the right to vote, except under specific qualifications, there is no evidence of "Before Day Clubs," nor any other incendiary associations.

WAS KILLED BY HER OWN SON.

Shooting of Mrs. Grear in Scott County, Virginia.

Bristol, Va., September 19.—Mrs. Minerva Greer, a widow, 50 years of age, was shot to death by one of her sons, at her home near Fort Blackman, Scott county, Virginia, yesterday afternoon. One of her two sons, Robert and Grover, it is not known which, fired the shot which ended the woman's life, as each declare the other guilty of the murder. It is said the boys were drinking and in a room adjoining that occupied by their mother, firing their pistols, when she entered and asked them to stop. One turned his pistol on his mother and sent a ball itno her heart, causing death instantly. An investigation is being held.

Several Bales Burned.

Social Circle, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—A fire was discovered early this morning in the warehouse of B. G. Smith, cotton buyer, which caused considerable alarm among the citizens of the town. Several bales of cotton were consumed by the flames. The fire was checked before any considerable damage was done. The fire is supposed to have started in a bale that was aflame when placed in the warehouse Saturday.

Stanley's Wounds Proved Fatal.

Natchez, Miss., September 19.—J. E. Stampley, of Franklin county, who was shot by his two cousins, Thad and Hugh Stanley, at Hamburg Saturday night, died at the Nitches hospital this morning. Stampley was shot in the breast and through the right thigh.

The shooting was the outgrowth of an old feud which was reopened when the men met at Hamburg Saturday.

Gin House Burns.

Hawkinsville, Ga., September 18.—(Special.)—A gin house and 8 bales of seed cotton, belonging to T. Harrell, were burned, a few miles south of Hawkinsville. Harrell places his loss at about $1,500, with no insurance. The fire was caused from a spark from an engine.

OLD-TIME TELEGRAPHERS WILL MEET THIS MORNING FOR ANNUAL SESSION

SOME OF THE PROMINENT "OLD TIME TELEGRAPHERS."

The Old-Time Telegraphers, men who worked the Morse system when dots and dashes were traced upon a long string of white paper, from which it was read, will convene in twenty-fourth annual session this morning in the convention hall at the Piedmont hotel.

Delegates to the convention began arriving early yesterday morning, and by noon the corridors of the hotel were filled with men wearing the badge of the organization—"Old-Time Telegraphers' and Historical Association and the Society of the United States Military Telegraph Corps."

In the gathering were men whose hair and beard had grown white because of the length of service they had given the corporation dealing in dots and dashes, men yet bright and active, both in step and word, men who had, by faithful work, risen to positions of importance among telegraphers, as well as the beardless element, in whom ambition and hopes of promotion have just taken root.

The Old-Time Telegraphers dates its formation back in the early eighties. At some time during 1882 a few of the wire workers, men whose immediate predecessors never thought of work by sound, gathered and discussed the methods then rapidly disappearing. To them it was apparent that the days of the long roll of paper were numbered, and that with the end of the reel then on the wheel it was by sound only that work would be done. To those in the gathering, the sound was as easy almost as the scroll unfolded from the wheel with its dots and dashes. But as they had been taught the art they loved it, and every one was anxious to perpetuate and carry into futurity the modus operandi of the years when Morse was the pioneer, the acme of telegraphic science. None doubted that the long ribon of white had seen its best days, that it had been doomed. Still, none present were willing to allow the old method to be buried into oblivion.

Finally it was determined that the most perpetuating marker possible was the formation of a society, to be known as the "Old-Time Telegraphers."

Organization Was Popular.

The "Old-Time Telegraphers" prospered and grew, each annual session surpassing and excelling its predecessor. Its growth and its popularity attracted the attention of other wire workers. Kindred organizations were formed, but none of them were as popular as the parent association, and a consolidation was the result. In the consolidation, all branches of the work were admitted until all kindred lines were enlisted. Then it was that the name was changed. The change was attributable to the fact that the new work was not only recognized by the old timers, but because they realized the necessity of the new method. It did not take the association long to select a name for the organization. In its nature it was historical. The members of the parent organization recognized the fact that the work had been revolutionized, that innovations had been made and that these would have to be recognized. The military line had shown its advancement and demanded recognition. So a new name was given the organization, and it was "The Old-Time Telegraphers and Historical Association and the Society of the United States Military Telegraph Corps."

While it is said by some that the organization had its inception in Atlanta, it is a recognized fact that not one of the annual sessions of the association has been held in the south.

With a single exception, the yearly gatherings have been held in the west. One year the association convened in Montreal. That was the only meeting the association has ever held outside of the west.

Prominent Men Are Members.

The roster of the association presents the names of some of the best and most prominent men of the union, men who were at one time makers and breakers of electric circuits or currents.

The local telegraphers, superintendents, managers, assistant managers and operators have all been busily working for the past month to insure the success of the convention. Nothing has been left undone to insure the comfort of the coming telegraphers. Mr. Schofield, of the Postal Telegraph company; J. M. Stephens, superintendent of the Western Union; W. T. Gentry, superintendent of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company; Dr. P. E. Murray, superintendent of the Western Union; Jacob Lavin, of the Western Union, are all interested in making the event one of the most delightful in the history of the organization. The initial session will take place at the Piedmont in the morning and the programme for the three days of the convention follows:

PETER'S SHOE CO., OF ST. LOUIS, THE HIT OF THE WORLD'S FAIR DAY.

Manufacturers of "Diamond Brand" Shoes Make Lively the Biggest Day of the Biggest Fair.

At the world's fair, the Peters Shoe Company, of St. Louis, who operate the largest and only successful shoe factory ever installed at an exposition, has come to be known as the leader of enthusiasm on the big days.

On Thursday, which was St. Louis day, the biggest day of the fair, they eclipsed all former efforts by literally pouring out onto the throngs of people on the grounds over a hundred thousand whistles and almost as many wooden souvenir postal cards, made up in imitation of burnt wood. The whole world's fair seemed one vast throng of whistlers whistling for Peters' shoes, and so great was the crush at the Peters Shoe Company's exhibit, where their $1,000 slippers and other interesting specimens of footwear are shown, that the entrances had to be closed repeatedly, in spite of which, portions of the exhibit were wrecked and plastering broken out.

The wooden souvenir card given by this firm is one of the cleverest novelties designed in connection with the big fair. One of them will be mailed to any address free on request.

C., September 19.—(Special.)—At the falls of the Neuse cotton mills, 12 miles from Raleigh, George Tillry, a young farmer, shot and killed his mother in law, Mrs. Lowry, and then shot and seriously wounded his wife, who was, at the time, sick in bed and had in her arms a babe two weeks old.

The man did the shooting while in a rage because Mrs. Lowry was influencing his wife so that she refused to move to another farm(they having lived since their marriage, one year ago, with the wife's mother.

RAILROAD RUMOR IS AFLOAT.

That Atlantic Coast Line Has Purchased Albany and Northern.

Cordele, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—A rumor was circulated here this afternoon that the Atlantic Coast Line had purchased the Albany and Northern, and, if this be true, the prediction is that the road will be extended on to Augusta, via Hawkinsville.

The Atlantic Coast Line is already connected with Albany, so if this deal takes place the new line from Cordele to Augusta would giv ethe Atlantic Coast Line anoter fine new territory.

ALL EYES NOW WATCHING NEW YORK GOVERNORSHIP

By Jos: Ohl.

THE harmony among New York republicans over the state ticket named at Saratoga is of a variety calculated to make hosts of democratic votes if the democrats make the right sort of a nomination for governor. Of the republican newspapers in New York city, The Tribune is the only one which swallows the ticket and makes a pleasant face over it. Whitelaw Reid has a reputation as a swallower quite in a class of his own; he will take anything that bears the brand "republican." But The Sun keeps up its pleasing jabs under the fifth rib of Mr. Higgins, the groceryman candidate of the groceryman governor-chairman. To the brief statement of a contemporary which calls Mr. Higgins the "standard bearer of the republican party," The Sun retorts.

Don't you know the difference between a standard bearer and the driver of a hearse?

And just to see that The Sun does not have all the glory of kicking over the traces, The Press, which gladly swallows Higgins, has this to say of the nomination for lieutenant governor:

"Governor Odell made a serious error in permitting Linn Bruce to be forced on the republican state ticket by the influences which placed him there. The governor ought to have held out to the very last against those who put Mr. Bruce forward. He ought not to have consented to this nomination under any circumstances. The name of Mr. Bruce ought now to be withdrawn from the ticket. It is not too late to do this. It is our earnest conviction that the good of the rest of the state ticket and perhaps even the national ticket demands this change."

The Democratic End.

What are the democrats going to do? There is little indication as yet. Most of the independent papers think the salvation of the situation lines in the nomination of Jerome, on the ground that he will not only get large numbers of republican and independent votes, but will put into the campaign that life which they seem to think it lacks. Mill seems to be true to Stanchfield. There is general belief that aside entirely from some weak spots in his record, Stanchfield would not measure up to the requirements of the situation, because he is a heavy, wooden speaker, possessing no magnetism and having none of the popular following that is thought to be necessary. Some of the politicians look askance at the Jerome suggestion, fearign his nomination would drive off a lot of democratic votes. Then, too, they argue that as Jerome is supposed to be very much like Roosevelt in his personality and political methods, his nomination would be a mistake at this time, when the democrats are making Roosevelt's strenuosity the issue in the presidential campaign. So it goes. Every man suggested has some objections raised to him. Hill is said to have offered Jerome the nomination for attorney general, only to have it indignantly spurned. It is further stated that Jerome took occasion to jump pretty hard upon Hill for assuming to parcel out the nominations—which may or may not be true. There is nothing in Shepard for democrats to enthuse over. The Brooklyn Eagle persists in urging the nomination of Grout, solely because it believes that would be a blow at Tammany. Murphy is understood to have said Tammany had no candidate at all, but would oppose Grout, regarding him a henchman of McCarren. Judge D. Cady Herrick, of Albany, and Judge W. J. Gaynor, of Brooklyn, are strong possibilities. Congressman Francis Burton Harrison is prominently mentioned for lieutenant governor in case the nominee for first place is taken from up state.

The Really Strenuous One.

Speaking of Jerome's likeness to Roosevelt, here is the most unique political likeness I have yet seen.

A gentleman writing me from Paris, France, says:

Dear Sir: Re the election. I would enunciate that Davis is a better man than Fairbanks. In my opinion, Davis, in the event of Parker's death, would be a second edition of Roosevelt. Yours truly,

L. M. YOUNG, M. D.

The suggestion is apparently made in perfect good faith. Now we know why Uncle Henry was chosen!

Bellboys Against Parker.

The bell boys at the Hotel Astor, the magnificent new hostelry where Judge Parker is to make his New York headquarters, have declared for the republican ticket. They are sore because there were no tips forthcoming during the conference of democratic leaders last week. Nothing doing from Judge Parker himself or from Hill or Sheehan or any of the big bugs. Victor Dowling was the only one of the lot who "loosened" at all, and he gave only a quarter. Hence the righteous indignation of the uninformed brigade, which held formal meeting and declared itself for Roosevelt—and George Cortelyou's barrel.

Don't Like Cannon's Talk.

Republicans about national headquarters at No. 1 Madison avenue, New York, are inclined to criticise Uncle Joe Cannon for his most recent utterance. Just at a time when the republican organs are trying to scare the democratic rank and file by picturing the democratic managers as helpless, having practically given up the fight, out comes Uncle Joe, who is in touch with conditions in the middle west, with the declaration that the democrats are organizing very effectively, in all the doubtful states and that this campaign is not going to be a walkover for anybody. The speaker of the house, who is a wise old campaigner, has been reading the riot act to state and national managers. He says the republican party is in danger because the democrats "are appealing to the discontented." If the roseate pictures which republicans are drawing of universal prosperity and content are true, why should the republicans worry? But Uncle Joe knows there is real danger.

Fairbanks' Class at College.

In the class with which Senator Fairbanks graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university there were John Hamilton, who was governor of Illinois; Mr. Pattison, president of the Union Central Life Insurance Company, and the first member of the class to be elected to congress; Senator Foraker, three times nominated for governor of Ohio and twice elected; George Atchison, formerly governor of West Virginia; Bishop Hoss, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south; R. M. Nevin, representative from the Dayton district in Ohio, and D. K. Watson, twice attorney general of Ohio, once representative from the Columbus district, and now on the commission for the revision of the laws of the United States. Fourteen other members have been upon the bench in Ohio and other states.

In the Doubtful States.

Telegrams to The New York World from party leaders in the doubtful states may be summed up as follows:

Robert Davis, New Jersey: "I believe the present conditions in New Jersey indicate Parker's success in the state."

Homer S. Cummings, Connecticut: "The party was never in better shape. The democrats are enthusiastic and hopeful. We expect to win."

John H. Dennis, Nevada: "I am confident the democratic electoral ticket will carry in this state by a majority of 500 to 700."

Richard R. Kenney, Delaware: "I am confident the democratic electoral ticket will have not less than 1,200 majority in this state."

Murray Vandiver, Maryland: "I have no hesitation in saying that the electoral vote of Maryland will be cast for Parker and Davis."

Roger C. Sullivan, Illinois: "Illinois is as doubtful a state as any north of the Ohio river."

George W. Peck, Wisconsin: "Present conditions point to the success of the democratic ticket, national and state, in Wisconsin."

John T. McGraw, West Virginia: "Present conditions unerringly point to the success of Parker and Davis in this state."

Senator W. A. Clark, Montana: "I think the prospect for the success of the democratic party in this state, including the electoral ticket, is very favorable."

DR. MAHONEY IS SENTENCED

Must Pay $250.00 or Serve Twelve Months for Mayhem.

Dr. P. E. Mahoney was yesterday given a sentence of $250 or twelve months in jail on the charge of mahem, he having bitten off an ear of C. R. Walker in a Sunday morning fight in the Kimball house on September 11.

Judge Calhoun, of the city criminal court, reviewed the testimony in the case and in so doing condemned the act strongly. A sentence of $250 or twelve months in the county jail was imposed. The prisoner failed to pay the fine and was escorted to the Fulton county jail, where he will remain for the present, as his attorneys have determined to ask for a new trial and to fight the case to the end.

So far no bond has been fixed according to the records and the indications are that Dr. Mahoney will remain in the Fulton county jail until he can make bond or pay the fine which has been assessed against him.

Motions only were heard by Judge Lumpkin, of the Fulton superior court, yesterday. The right of way on the Central near the city was the most important case. The argument was lengthy and exhaustive, but Judge Lumpkin reserved his decision.

MILTON-CRAWFORD.

Milledgeville, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock George Fort Milton, of Knoxville, Tenn., were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at the famil yresidence of the bride, which was beautifully decorated. The bride is one of the most beautiful women of this community, being of a distinct southern type we see in portraits of ante-bellum beauty.

Mr. Milton is a sucessful business man and is editor and prorietor of The Knoxville, Tenn., Sentinel. His ancestors, on his mother's side, were the well known Fort family, of this county.

Miss Crawford is a granddaughter of the late R. M. Orme, who was a leading citizen of this place. The ceremony was performed by Rec. D. W. Brannen, of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Milton was accompanied by many of his family and friends. The happy couple left tonight for Knoxville.

GEORGIA DAY AT THE FAIR IS TO BE A GREAT EVENT

EVERYTHING is now ready at home and in St. Louis for the Georgia day celebration which takes place on the world fair grounds on Wednesday, September 28.

Governor Terrell, his staff and the distinguished citizens who will accompany the chief executive will leave for St. Louis on Monday of next week arriving there on Tuesday, prepared to make Georgia day as big an event as possible.

The commissioner for this state have labored long and faithfully to have Georgia day keep up the splendid record the state has already made by her exhibits. The two railroads running from Georgia, the Southern and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis have both made every arrangement for the comfort of Georgians who will go up for the big day. It is now "up to" the people of the state and, it is confidently expected, they will respond readily and be present by the thousands on the eventful day.

The Georgia commissioners are Governor Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens, Commissioner General Dudley M. Hughes, ssistant Commissioner General Glascock Barrett, Vice Commissioner General Hugh V. Washington, Commissioner F. B. Gordon and Commissioner H. H. Tift.

Assistant Commissioner General Barrett is now sending out letters regarding Georgia day. These letters contain the programme of the celebration and an appeal to the people of the state to be present and aid in making the day memorable. The letters read as follows:

"St. Louis, Mo., September 16.

"Dear Sir: The Georgia commission to the world's fair desires to announce that all arrangements have been perfected for the celebration of Georgia day, with a program as follows:

"Parade forms in front of Georgia building at 11 o'clock a. m. and marches to the Hall of Congress, arriving there at 11:30.

"Introductory remarks—Commissioner General Hughes.

"Address of welcome—President D. R. Francis.

"Response—Governor Terrell.

"Orator of the day—Hon. C. E. Dunbar.

"The Georgia Press—Hon. John T. Bolfeuillet.

"In reference to exhibits and hospitality there is no state represented on the grounds that stands ahead of Georgia. Their magnificent show with so small an appropriation by the legislature has impressed the world at large with the knowledge of the public spirit and push and energy of the Georgia citizens. All that is necessary for one to do to satisfy themselves of the many advantages to be obtained by a visit to the world's fair is to make inquiry of some one of the Georgia people who have already visited the show, and they will tell you that it has been worth the trip to them to have seen what Georgia has, even if they did not have an opportunity of in a few days encompassing a trip around the world not only seeing the different products and industries of the various nations, but also of coming in contact with citizens of every state in the union and all of the foreign countries.

"Your commission feel very proud of what results have been accomplished up to this time, and they are relying on the support of the Georgia people to make Georgia day at St. Louis one that will go down into history. All that is necessary to accomplish this is the attendance of the Georgia people. In no other way can so effective an advertisement of our state be made.

"The entire commission will devote their every effort to making your visit one to be remembered with pleasure so long as you live. Very truly yours,

"GLASCOCK BARRETT,
"Executive Commissioner."

MORGAN SCORNS COURT SUMMONS

And So Do Odell and Platt n Suit Against Labor Chief Mitchell.

Binghamton, N. Y., September 19.—The action brought by Lawyer A. D. Wales, of this city, against John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, to receive $200,000 for services in bringing about the settlement of the great anthracite coal strike, came up before Justice Lyon at a special term of the supreme court today.

Assemblyman James T. Rogers appeared for Senator Platt and Governor Odell, who have been subpoened as witnesses and who requested that their testimony be taken somewhere besides in Binghamton. He presented a physician's certificate certifying to Senator Platt's illness and inability to attend the trial.

Mr. Wales said he had no objection to Senator Platt not being present, but said he wanted Governor Odell and declared that he believed the witness should be called.

J. P. Morgan sent a letter saying he could be present in Binghamton only on next Monday, while President Baer, of the Reading company, could not be present until the week following. Mr. Wales said he thought the witnesses should be called to protect him and when asked by Justice Lyon if he wished a motion to have the men declared in contempt he replied:

"We shall see about that later."

Several of the talesmen were excused and Justice Lyon then adjourned court until afternoon.

$28.00
$30.00

That's the price-range—$10.00 to $30.00. The same rates prevail elsewhere—everywhere—but they are not associated with the same styles or qualities. That's the point that should claim the thought of every intelligent buyer. We are manufacturers—producing the Suits we sell—saving retail purchasers all in-between profits. Could any business advantage be more clearly defined than that statement?

If every man who wears Ready-made Clothes was fully in touch with our principles and methods the business would jump ahead in larger leaps than it does.

Atlantans Who Figure in New York Happenings

NEW YORK, September 19.—(Special.)—The season is opening earlier than usual in New York, and southerners who usually are seen doing their winter shopping in October are here at present in the hands of their milliners and couturieres. One sees new hats on the wax women in the windows and old ones on the real women in the automobiles. Fifth avenue is thronged with newly arrived people and the Waldorf is overflowing with the bank convention, and its wives and daughters and sweethearts. The reception given that important body in the Waldorf ball room was a brilliant one—a marvel of management, for while there were thousands of people there was no crowding whatever. The ball room was decorated in dahlias and palms and hydrangeas. There were many superb costumes. The Atlanta people present were Captain and Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. John King Ottley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish.

Mrs. Lowry's charming toilette of rose-point lace built on white satin was distinctive and noticeably elegant amid such a great gathering of fine gowns and jewels. She wore diamonds and pearls, her most effective ornament being a pendant of pearls and diamonds suspended from a rope of pearls.

Mrs. Ottley wore an a la mode creation of cream rococo lace built on soft yellow taffeta, and trimmed with many frou-frou frills of pale yellow chiffon—a gown most becoming to her bright face and rosy complexion.

Mrs. Robert Maddox was lovely and chic in pale rose chiffon and lace over satin, the gown made with many rows of fine shirring on bodice and skirt. The ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. Wimbish wore an elegant toilet of white chiffon and lace, with pearl ornaments.

On Thursday, Mrs. Robert Lowry gave a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Bigelow, of Milwaukee, wife of the president of the bank association. She entertained her guests in the palm room of the Waldorf, and the decorations of the table were dahlias in all the rich autumnal shades. Those present were Mrs. Lowry, Mrs. Bigelow, of Milwaukee; Misses Ridgely, of Washington; Mrs. George C. Smith, of Pittsburg; Mrs. Ottley and Mrs. Robert Maddox, of Atlanta; Miss Janet Tompkins and Miss Bessie Tompkins, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Helen Moore Thomas are down from Mrs. Campbell's home in Cherry Valley and are guests southern women are looking extremely at the Waldorf. Both of these attractive handsome and are receiving a great deal of attention from their southern friends during their visit.

The landing here of two attractive Atlanta widows, just back from Europe, was attended by a most unfortunate circumstance, for upon arrival, they could get no trace of their baggage, it having, by some mistake, been put off on some other wharf than the one they intended. It so chanced that they are here with nothing more tangible and satisfactory than some hand luggage, two canary birds and a cocatoo, and some bird seed. It is fortunate, however, that the bird seed is not missing, since, by said nourishment the feathered pets can be silenced, while the two belated travelers go in search of their worldly goods.

Miss Mannie Moore is visiting friends in New York, and having a delightful time. Miss Moore is one of the exceptional people who prophets honor in their own country, for she has won for herself among the people of Mobile, her native city, a great deal of respect and admiration. As a popular society girl, she is known everywhere throughout the south, but as a clever woman, capable and plucky, and ambitious, she has added to her social place that convincing element of real character which makes a woman worth respect and consideration for her personality alone. Miss Moore is one of the few southern girls whose venture in the line of a small paper, entirely on social topics, has succeeded in a southern city. During the three months' of gaiety in Mobile she has for some five seasons published this paper—been its editor and main contributor, and through its advertisements made it pay. The paper has a wide circulation through the south. Its columns contain a great deal of well written social matter and there are bright stories and poems.

Two charming Mobile girls are visiting New York at present, Miss Marie Burgess and Miss Jessie Whitney. The latter will be remembered in Atlanta as one of the handsomest and most attractive young women on the list of visiting girls. On dit that she carried away several susceptible hearts upon her departure. She has just returned from Europe, and here is another wharf-landing story. It seems that she did not declare anything, for the simple reason that she had nothing but her wearing apparel that she could think of in her trunk. It seems, however, that the customs officer found a souvenir spoon or a necklace of beads bought in Italy, and so she was not allowed, in consequence of the trifle she failed to declare, the prescribed $100 worth of imported belongings. Everything, just and unjust, was made dutiable, and she was left pro tem. penniless on the wharf with a dime or so. She got to her hotel and telephoned the first friend she could think of to come to her relief, but shortly after her arrival her father turned up in the midst of the Bankes' convention at the Waldorf, so her dilemmas were relieved. Miss Whiting is receiving a great deal of attention here, as she does everywhere. She is a brilliant brunette with bright eyes, regular features and any amount of animation.

Miss Marcia Burgess and Miss Whitney were close friends and the two girls automobiling together make charming foils. Miss Burgess is tall and blonde and slender, very like an English girl in the shape of her face and her fine, delicate racially marked profile. She has an abundance of fair hair, not the usual blonde hair, but hair of a silvery-gold, childlike fairness, and her eyes are deep blue with dark lashes and brows. She dresses charmingly.

Miss Burgess, unlike many girls of wealth and leisure, is not a mere idle butterfly. She goes in for china painting and not in an amateur fashion, either. She studied some seasons ago, beginning like any other serious artist at a good art school, went from antique drawing into the life class, mastered all the detail one must have for any successful artistic work and then began her china painting in earnest and with success.

Mrs. Robert Adamson and Miss Marian May were two or the prettiest and best dressed young women to be seen yesterday automobiling on Fifth avenue. Mrs. Adamson wore a chic gown of dark blue cloth, the smart coat having a collar of blue taffeta stitched in many rows and a deep shoulder piece of the blue cloth finished with effective fringe to match. Her hat was a toque in dark blue and white.

Miss May, who is always the embodiment of youthful health and beauty, wore a white linen shirt, the short jacket laid in pleats and having a deep collar of French embroidered linen lawn, the edge scalloped and the surface showing a design of daisies and rosebuds. Her hat was of finest white chip, with an orange colored feather cockade and banks of orange violet and white satin laid smoothly around the large crown.

Rummage Sale.

COMMITTEES No. 4 and No. 6 of All Saints church, of which committees Mrs. George Dexter and Mrs. Edward Ehney are chairmen, will give a rummage sale in the Emery Steiner building, on Whitehall street viaduct, next Saturday and Monday, September 24th and 26th. The friends of the church are urged to patronize the venture, as a number of useful articles are on hand to be sold.

An Attractive Visitor.

MISS GEORGELLE SIMMONS, now the lovely young guest of Mrs. Augustus C. McHan, in West End, will find many warm friends in Atlanta. She is the only granddaughter of the late Dr. James N. and Mrs. Lizzie C. Simmons, of Mt. Vernon, Ga., two people loved and honored by all who knew them. Dr. Simmons was a faithful steward of the First Methodist church in Mt. Vernon as long as he lived, and was a polished Christian gentleman. Mrs. Simmons was not only an earnest church worker, but was also a great social favorite. Their only daughter married a minister of the South Georgia Conference, Rev. J. W. Simmons, a man who has stood without spot or blemish, never losing a month's service since he went to California a young missionary in 1859, truly faithful to his church and his God. His wife is a talented musician and her music has been of untold value in church work. Their children are also musicians, and Miss Georgelle Simmons will study mandolin and violin while here.

The Fall Importations Of an Atlanta Modiste

AS IF she had walked through an art gallery adorned with portraits of grandes dames of the Louis XV period and then designed the same costumes to dazzle feminine eyes today, is the impression made on the careful observer of the superb gowns, coats and materials to be shown by Miss J. C. Morrison at her opening of today.

To describe several of her importations is as great a pleasure to the woman appreciative of their beauty as it would be to the artist were he telling a comrade of a masterpiece in painting.

It is a satisfaction, too, to realize that the Atlanta modiste has her models and materials as direct from Paris and Vienna, as have her high priced rivals in the Metropolis and at her opening today Miss Morrison will give an object lesson on the splendid business that can be developed by the energetic woman in a short period of time.

Demostrating the prophecies in the foreign fashion letters, a premium is being put on the quality of materials this season and one is moved to exclaim at the superb brocades velvets and satins, that are most majestic in their beauty and texture when they are drawn from their tissue lined boxes and exhibited to admiring womankind.

There are the satin brocades to be used in the lady's 'petticoat,' the front width of the petticoat of the brocade, while satin, silk or velvet draped full from the hips will form the rest of the skirt. Other brocades of smaller pattern in pompadour design, are to be fashioned in the short coat of the Louis XV time, with its deep pointed girdle in front, the draped effect of a softer material over the bust, the lace chimesette above and the full sleeve finished at the elbow with ruffles of lace and chiffon.

Illustrative of this fashion is an imported gown in that palest shade called dove blue, one that rests the eye by day, and brings out by night the best lights in a woman's skin and eyes.

The coat-corsage, as the new waist is called, is of the blue silk, showing a brocade design in pale pink and blue flowers, with a touch of green and a few gold threads interwoven.

It is a coat effect in the back, the coat having a skirt of about 12 inches that terminates at the waist line near the front width to give way to the long pointed girdle, above which is the draped front of soft chiffon and lace. The brocade coat opening over this drapery is zouave in cut, not reaching the waist line, and has an edge of foliage green velvet, showing a delicate tracery of gold thread.

The full sleeves of brocade begin their fullness at the shoulder and at the elbow are finished with ruffles of creamy French lace, applications of the same lace introduced with artistic effect in the finish of this most striking creation.

The skirt is of the dove blue crepe de chine, made en train. The front width is a panel of plaits that fall in graceful fullness from the knee down, and the rest of the skirt is shirred byadere at intervals of twelve inches apart, between the shirrings, being bands of the French lace.

To be worn with a coat and skirt of black velvet is an imported waist in ivory white messeline silk, the waist shirred and full till it reaches the deep pointed girdle finishing it. The front width is of ivory colored thread lace, and a touch of color is given in the trimming of cerise panne velvet, this velvet is a Grecian design alternating with the flat ruchings of lace forming the round yoke terminating at the shoulder line. The full sleeves have cuffs of lace, trimmed with the cerise lace, and no more artistic creation could be imagined.

A lace coat to be worn with cloth, velvet or silk gown is the 24-inch length in the new lace called Irish rennaissance. It is caught in at the waist line in the back with a large buckle and velvet ribbon, and in front opens over a draped waistcoat in softer lace or chiffon.

A waist in Irish rennaissance lace is another pompadour model finishing with a deep girdle and having applied here and theron the lace flowers made of linen and embroidered.

In the pompadour brocade for the front width of skirts or for the Louis XV coats is a pattern in heavy white satin that has brocaded on it bow knots in the shades of orchid. A second pattern shows bouquets of flowers in their natural color, and a third in the ever effective ivory white satin is brocaded in small bouquets of pink and blue flowers.

Leading Druggists Sell it Willingly.

None the handsomer, but more dazzling, is the little room adjoining, where, on entering, one is startled by what seem to be thousands of miniature stars that might be shining from Titania's bower, in the number spangled nets and laces that are to be worn more this season than ever before. Not only are there the net robes spangled, but those of lace sparkle with embroideries of gold and silver and beads of iridescent tints, one imported robe of white net and hand run lace having an embroidery wrought upon it in iridescent plattes and those of gold and brilliants.

Laces of creamy color scintillate with an embroidery of olivines, other patterns have beads of opal tints embroidering them, and never have there been shown as many kinds of hand-made trimmings in embroidery and lace.

For afternoon gowns are shown the corded velvets in all shades, brocade silks of rich color and texture, faille silks, crepes of all kinds and crepe de chines, cloths of light and heavy kind in all the party-colors, and almost every material that combines richness of color and of quality.

COTTON HAULED FIVE CENTS BALE

Result of Competition Between Railroad Lines in Georgia.

Hawkinsville, Ga., September 19.—(Special.)—The Seaboard Air Line and the Hawkinsville and Florida Southern railways have been the principals in a fight over the cotton traffic which has aroused considerable interest among the citizens here.

These railroads cross at Pitts, Ga., 27 miles below Hawkinsville, the objective point being this city and Cordele, which have also had a hand in the affair. The outcome is that farmers along the route are now shipping cotton to Hawkinsville from Pitts at the extremely low rate of 5 cents per bale over the Hawkinsville and Florida Southern road.

Up to this time Hawkinsville has received over 5,000 bales, and it continues to come in by rail and wagon and steamboat at a rapid rate from miles and miles around.

Burnett's Vanilla Extract has outlived criticism. It is the finest and purest vanilla extract that can be bought. Once tried, always used.

Mr. Tyler, who was about 46 years of age, was the son of J. H. Tyler of this city and all of his life practically had been spent here. He had not been in robust health for a number of years.

There is small reason to suspect a change of venue. A change of venire is certain. A panel of eighteen men probably will be drawn from some other city or county and this may operate to delay immediate trial.

Games Played Today.

New Orleans in Atlanta.
Little Rock in Birmingham.
Shreveport in Montgomery.
Memphis in Nashville.

The sad and mournful news of another defeat for the Pelicans was wired home by the New Orleans scribes, last night, who are becoming experts in describing how games are lost.

Big Wiggs, of the cabbage patch, the man with air ship possibilities, was pitted against young Childs, the South Atlantic Leaguer, who several years ago wore a Shreveport uniform.

The game was a batle of wild men, but Wiggs was somewhat wilder and certainly the most vulnerable of the two and the Crackers received the credit for another victory, just one step nearer the pennant.

While Atlanta was pounding the life out of Wiggs and New Orleans was failing to hit Childs, Memphis was having a little quiet game with Newt Fisher's men in Newt's back yard. Memphis won the decision, and for the first time in several months the Pelicans are deposed from the leadership and Memphis heads the league.

"Let Atlanta win three out of four from New Orleans and we will win the pennant," said Manager Whistler, on leaving Atlanta. There is one for you, Mr. Whistler.

Mr. Latham, the most capable umpire in the league, was on the grounds early in the game. As he came to the home plate to announce the batteries he was given a round of applause by the grand stand, as the people of Atlanta appreciate a good umpire.

He had occasion to hand it to New Orleans in the fifth inning. From the very beginning of the game, New Orleans started to kicking on his decisions, though they were given a fair deal.

The first ball put over the plate by Childs, with Rickert at the bat, was called a strike.

"What's that?" yelled Rickert, facing Arlie. And this was the temper of the New Orleans gang throughout the game.

[illegible]ere was one decision in the fifth inning which seemed close to the Pelicans. With the bases filled, Rohe hit an easy one down to Demont, who stumbled as he came in, picked it up, and threw the man out at first. There was a kick, but Latham was firm and the team was retired.

Atz Put Out of Game.

Then, in Atlanta's half of the same inning, Jakey Atz did his stunt. He walked up to Latham.

"Say, Latham," said he, "do you know the difference between yourself and a regular out-and-out highwayman?"

"What's the answer?" said the umpire.

"Why, the highwayman uses a gun to rob a man, and you rob without the use of the weapon. You are a regular robber! Why, you ought to belong to Harry Tracey's band!" said the Pelican short stop.

"To the woods for yours!" Arlie retorted, and to the woods went Atz. This necessitated a change in the line-up, Anderson being brought from the bench and placed on second, while Holly shifted to short.

The Atlanta team played fast and crusty ball throughout the game, and gave New Orleans a tussle for every point. There was no better work done in the Southern League yesterday than that seen at Piedmont park. The Crackers as they are today stand head and shoulders above every other team. If they keep up this stride, the pennant will rest in the Cracker City.

Wiggs was soaked good and heavy, while Childs, outside of a few wild pitches, some bases on balls and three hits, had little to complain of.

In the second inning Childs exploded for a short period. Rohe drew a pass. Welkart went out to McCay, and Genins to Morse. Then came the explosion. Holly walked, and, with two men on bases, a wild pitch and a passed ball and another wild pitch sent both men in, while Fox drove the next ball over for a double to right.

Atlanta started up in the fourth, making four runs. Morse walked, Demont sacrificed him to second, McCay followed with a clean drive through second for a score, while he scored on Clarke's double. On a wild pitch, Clarke went to third. Childs walked, and stole second, George Winters bringing in both men with a double to left. In the fifth two more resulted from Koehler's hit to pitcher, Demont's bunt, McCay's out and Osteen's double. Three more runs were scored by hits in the sixth.

The bleachers were crowded with the boys let in by Manager Powell. Helm was given a chance after Wiggs was retired from the game and did well. Two games will be played today, the first beginning at 2 o'clock. Smith and Wright or

INHERITED SCROFULA

When a child I had a very severe attack of Diphtheria, which came near proving fatal. Upon recovery the glands of the neck were very much enlarged, and after the free use of iodine, the right one was reduced to its normal size, but the left one continued to grow—very slowly at first, until it was about the size of a goose egg, which began to press on the windpipe, causing difficult breathing, and became very painful. An incision was made and a large quantity of pus discharged. The gland was removed, or as much as could with safety be taken out. For ten years I wore a little piece of cloth about an inch long in my neck to keep the place open. During this time I had to have it cut open by the doctor every time I took cold or the opening clogged. In the Spring or early Summer of 1884 I was persuaded by my wife to use S. S. S., which I did, strictly in accordance with directions. I took twenty-six large bottles, and was entirely cured, for I have not suffered since that time. B. S. RAGLAND.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Good work Crackers. Keep it up and drive Charlie Frank and his team off the earth.

Umpire Latham couldn't have figured in those thirteen hits for eighteen bases, those two wild pitches, and those bases on balls. How about it.

Latham was given a round of applause by the audience as the people of Atlanta appreciate and always have appreciated his work as an umpire. He is the one umpire of the league who is not afraid to favor the visitors if they are in the right.

Some misguided individual in the grandstand yesterday threw a bottle at Holly. Holly took up the bottle as if to throw it back at the man, and immediately some twenty bottles were levelled by their owners ready to return the throw.

It is all right to root for a team to win. It is all right to yell and to make all the noise possible to discompose the visiting pitcher, but when it comes to bottle throwing the visitors have a right to kick.

It is unfair, unsportmanlike and should be punished by immediate arrest of the guilty party. Atlanta does not desire the reputation of being a rowdy town, where the visitors are bull dozed. She wants to win the pennant, but she desires to win it fairly and such tactics as throwing bottles out on the grounds, whether the thrower intends to hit a player or simply to scare him, is unpardonable. Let the police take a hand in the future.

Jake Atz has come out in a defense of Crozier, who was recently accused by Mike Finn of failing to run out a hit in the last game of the Memphis series, which gave to Memphis the pennant.

"I remember the play," said Atz. "I think it was in the third or fourth inning. Crozier dropped a ball over the pitcher's head, and I was after it on the run. I picked it up, fielding the ball cleanly to first base. Crozier was running like a flash of lightning toward first base and the ball reached the plate about the same time that he did. He was called out. There was no throwing of games in that last series. Atlanta won the first game, 5 to 2, Tom Dougherty pitching swell ball. Breit pitched against Frank Wilson the next day and won his own game in the eighth with a long hit with the bases crowded, sending in three runs. The next day Atlanta fought hard for that game and it was not the fault of the men on the team that they failed to win out."

"New Orleans has been given a fair enough show on the road," said Latham, in speaking of the many kicks registered by that team of late against him, "and it was due to the fact that they were outplayed that they lost. I have always umpired fair games and given decisions as I have seen them. Watch the game today and you will see a game umpired as I always umpire."

George Winters was there with his stick again yesterday and his two doubles and his single were pretty samples of his work.

Bernie McCay drove in the first run of the game for Atlanta with a rattling single to right field through the place where second baseman usually stands.

Cut out the kicking, New Orleans, and let's get down to real fast work.

Wednesday a band will be secured by Manager Powell and will detail the music to the crowd. Lively airs for the Atlanta team when they are winning and a tolling of bells when the losing streak comes, if such a thing comes.

Dick Crozier, who always bats well against New Orleans, tore off two more hits yesterday and his cup of happiness was full. Demont sprung a nice little bunt after the shift of the Pelican infield.

DAY A QUIET ONE IN COTTON MARKET

Fluctuations Showed Irregularity but a Generally Steady Undertone.

LATER SOLD OFF SLIGHTLY.

But Recovered the Loss and Closed Very Steady, Six to Fourteen Points Higher on Expectation of a Bullish Bureau Report.

New York, September 19.—It was a quiet day in the cotton market with fluctuations showing irregularity, but a generally steady undertone. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, or a little better than due on the cables, which reached an advance of only 1 point. The weather over the belt was generally favorable, but the trade evidently feared a bullish bureau report tomorrow and following the call, prices advanced to a net gain of about 5 to 6 points. There was selling by prominent floor brokers on the advance, however, and when the estimates for receipts at tomorrow's leading points came in and it was found that the day's ports would greatly exceed estimates the market sold off to a net loss of about 2@5 points. From this level it recovered to about tre closing prices of Saturday and during the middle session ruled very quiet within a few points of that level. Later, however, there was support by local bulls accompanied by a flurry of coverings by September shorts and the market in the last half hour was more active than at any previous time during the day. It closed very steady with September 14 and other months 6 to 9 pointss higher. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales. Exports for the day were fair, but well behind port receipts, and stocks at all United States ports are slowly accumulating, being now about 243,116 bales, against 194,430 bales a year ago. The estimates for tomorrow's leading points are all full, particularly for Galveston. The trade are expecting total port receipts tomorrow of between 65,000 and 70,000 bales. Owing to the private reports of crop deterioration and the idea that it was too weak and cold in the western belt during the past week, a bullish weekly report is expected at noon tomorrow, and a part of the covering today was undoubtedly based on this contingency.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, September 19.—Spot cotton quiet but steady. Many factors' tables were covered on account of the Jewish holiday. Sales 2,300 bales, including 1,250 to arrive. Quotations unchanged.

Futures opened quiet at a decline of 1 to 5 points. Selling by commission houses around the opening sent prices off 10 to 11 points and the market held steady at this level until about noon, when a strong buying movement set in, which carried prices up several points above the opening. The heavy estimated receipts for tomorrow—64,000 to 68,000 for Galveston and Houston—was a bearish feature. In the trading October opened 1 point lower at 10.26, sold down to 10.17 and finally advanced to 10.32. The market closed firm at the highest figures of the day and showing net gains of 5 to 6 points.

COTTON—The market for cotton futures opened steady in tone with first prices practically unchanged to an advance of 5 points. This showing was somewhat better than expected in view of the Liverpool cables and the favorable weather map, the climatic conditions being satisfactory and the crop news consequently being quite encouraging. Shorts were the main buyers at the start, but there was a limited amount of support from the leading room traders. The operations in the aggregate were not of very extensive proportions. The movement was the subject of bearish comment. The receipts were large and promised to continue so. The receipts at Houston for tomorrow were estimated at 30,500 to 32,000 bales, against 12,366 last year. The ports were full and the receipts overran the early estimates, aggregating 45,625 bales, against 27,920 last week and 34,884 last year and 44,946 for the same day in 1902. There was some liquidation on the big figures, and supporting orders, which came in later, were absolutely necessary to maintain the tendency of the general market. For the week the ports were estimated at 260,000, against 186,705 last week and 199,210 last year. The late market was nervous.

WHEAT—There was further liquidation in the wheat market today. Shorts bought some on the reaction. The crop situation was more bearish, as also were the statistics. World's shipments were liberal and stocks of wheat appeared to be increasing as a result of a rush on the part of farmers in the northwest to market spring wheat. The longs were not very aggressive and the late market was weak. Indications pointed to an active traders' market for the ensuing week.

CORN—Corn started firmer on better cables. The latter suggested an increase in the export movement. There was a good cash demand and the crop news, while still quite favorable, was the subject of some differing opinions. Jones came out with an estimate placing the crop at 1,900,000,000. This estimate had the effect of creating a bullish feeling for a time. Longs of recent creation took profits, and the late market weakened with wheat.

OATS were mainly influenced by the action of corn. The market held steady, but the trade was not large.

PROVISIONS were firm, but the trade was only moderate. There was a fair scattered demand for product. The cash business was moderate and packers were still rather indisposed.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—The market was dull, but quiet today. Trading was not active, and after the opening, which was unchanged to 5 points higher, prices showed a declining tendency till after noon. Influences for the decline were favorable weather, receipts pointing to a very full movement at the ports today and decidedly heavy estimates for tomorrow. The drop from the opening amounted to some 4 to 10 points. In the afternoon early sellers in an effort to get the cotton back found the market bare of offerings, which resulted in a sharp advance and a very steady closing at the highest point of the day, net 6 to 14 points higher.

Port receipts today 45,625 bales, against 33,808 last year. Exports today 16,387 bales.

WHEAT—Buying by shorts and a good commission house demand started the wheat market firm, December being a shade to 1 1-2c. higher at $1.09 1-8 to $1.09 5-8. Heavy rains in the coast and a large decrease in the amount on passage were influences for the advance. At the better level liberal offerings appeared, increased northwest receipts and liberal world's shipments changing sentiment and resulting in a decline to $1.08 1-2. There was a later advance to $1.10 1-2 for December on reports of cold and wet weather in Manitoba, the demand from commission houses being quite active, to be followed again by heavy realizing sales and a decline to $1.07 1-2, the close being weak at $1.08, 1 1-2c. lower. Primary receipts 1,685,900, against 1,318,600 last year. Clearances 66,900 bushels wheat and flour. The visible supply increased 895,000 bushels. On passage decreased 1,696,000 bushels.

CORN—The feature in the corn market was a report of a Minneapolis crop expert, claiming the total crop would be 300,000,000 bushels less than the figures predicted by the government. It caused a sharp advance, all of which was later lost on realizing, December closing weak 1-2 to 5-8c. lower, at 49 5-8 to 49 3-4.

OATS—The market closed at the low point, 1-2c. lower for December, at 32 1-8. A heavy increase in the visible supply was the main factor.

PROVISIONS—The product market was strong on higher hogs. The demand was fair, but scattered, with offerings light. January closed 2 1-2 to 10c. higher.

Cothran & Co.

COTTON—The market today was one of the least interesting of the month. From the opening on through the morning and early afternoon the price fluctuations were hardly great enough to keep the floor brokers alive. For over an hour January sold from 10.38 to 10.40. At no time was there a chance for a commission house trader to make his commission. Early the spasmodic buying carried January to 10.46, but only for a minute. Selling on Houston estimates of 30,000 bales carried the market off to 10.38 for January and there prices hung. It was impossible to put them up or down apparently, and so floor traders gave up the job and quit. For half an hour at a time there would hardly be a trade in some months. On the decline shorts bought, and this prevented a break. From the south came reports of fine weather and more cotton from the interior. The demand was not as good in some places. But Europe has contracted for a pile of cotton, and it will be some time before cotton begins to weigh on the market. Until the danger of frost is over we do not look for much of a break.

WHEAT—Offerings were light early that allowed of recoveries, but the foreign news was bearish, although France was reported a buyer of cargoes again, but large receipts in the northwest and weak cash markets were too much for prices, while the buying of the futures was not of a good character. There was a rally in sympathy with corn, but it brought out increased offerings. Even predictions of bad weather could not stop liquidation that increased in force late in the day, with a little support from Armour and covering by shorts. The close was very ragged and rallies may be brought about, although we believe that they will be short lived and would take advantage of them to sell on.

CORN—The futures strengthened on predictions of frost in a few localities, while there was free buying and covering by shorts on Jones' report of a nineteen hundred million crop, but it was not sufficient to hold prices, the break in wheat apparently causing liquidation in corn, the selling being fast and furious. With the nearby futures down to lower levels then witnessed in some time, December closing at a small premium over May. Local sentiment was bearish, but on further decline would favor purchase of May.

OATS—The futures worked up early in sympathy with corn, but met with free selling by elevator people, while the large increase in the visible was a very bearish factor and tended towards late liquidation with the buying power withdrawn. The close was heavy, but with any rally in corn this cereal will sympathize to some extent.

PROVISIONS—Market was quite strong in sympathy with hogs. Armour buying October ribs, and it appeared as if liquidation in that month had been completed. Hog receipts were disappointing and January product was fairly well bought. The market is acting very well, although with any sharp advances appearing we would sell January pork, lard and ribs.

STOCKS—The stock market was under pressure practically all day and a dragging session was noted with an occasional specialty spurt of more or less activity. The market presents the appearance of a declining policy on the part of insiders. We think the active list a sale on rallies, but on rallies only, for turns during the present week. Conditions, generally considered at this writing, point to such a conclusion and we think it wise to beware of the long side of the market for the present. The bank statement's loss of surplus showed its effect on the money market, which was firmer today and will probably increase in strength. This is now a market factor.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—All signs of this morning pointed to a field day for the bears. After long weeks of promising, receipts at last have taken on the enormous volume predicted. Galveston started in with receipts today about double the estimate, and followed later in the day with a forecast of 34,000 to 36,000 bales for tomorrow. Houston and New Orleans also sent extremely large estimates for this season of the year. For the first time since this season opened have the receipts of 1902 been exceeded. Under such circumstances nothing but a big slump could be looked for, and there was no lack of sellers to take advantage of the break. On their selling price did actually decline 4 to 5 points under Saturday's prices, but to the astonishment of everybody except a few who, like ourselves, have all along foreseen such a movement, prices wheeled about and actually advanced 12 points in face of the overwhelming movement. Those who have followed our recent letters will easily understand the indifference of the market to big receipts at the present time. If one-fourth to one-half million bales of cotton have been sold for September shipment, then one-fourth to one-half million bales of cotton can come upon the market; in fact, must come, without exerting a feather's weight on the level of prices. All this cotton has been bought in advance, and it is coming to the ports solely to go aboard ship and to disappear out of this country. Surely this is not a bearish situation. A few days more like the present of large receipts and stiff markets will complete the discomforture of the shorts, who are already greatly worried over the outlook. It must be remembered that 9c cotton and lower was predicted as soon as receipts became free, and here we have the market selling at nearly 10 1-2c. with strong signs of going higher. It does seem as if all calculations of a big decline are doomed in advance to disappointment. The closing tonight shows a gain over Saturday of 7 points, and on this basis Liverpool is due to come 5 higher in the morning.

WHEAT opened firm influenced by cables less weak than expected and unfavorable weather throughout Manitoba. The market has been very nervous all day with sharp fluctuations. Trading has been in a large measure local and professional. On the bulges Armour has apparently been against the price. Northwestern movement is increasing largely and furnishes the strongest bear argument at the moment. Southwestern receipts are also holding up surprisingly, but we believe they will soon fall off, the market must stand the test of this increased movement. We believe the wheat will be needed and eventually we shall see higher prices.

OATS have at last shown some sympathy with the decline in the other grains and have sold under 35, but tone is not weak and there is a great many believers in them at present prices. The best selling has been against purchases in Minneapolis.

GIST OF THE NEWS FAVORED BEARS

Liberal Profit Taking Resulted in Over a Cent Decline.

CLOSED NEAR LOW POINT.

After Sharp Bulge in Corn Market Closed Weak, 1-2 to 5-8c Lower. Oats Lost 1-2c—Provisions Closed 2 1-2c to 1c Lower.

Chicago, September 19.—With world's shipments increased and larger primary receipts, liberal profit taking in wheat today resulted in a net decline of 1⅛c. Corn is off ½@5 8c, oats down °c and provisions show a gain of 2½ to 10c.

In spite of a number of bear influences, a firm feeling prevailed in wheat at the opening, December being up a shade to ⅛c at $1.09⅛ to 109½@109 5-8, and May 3-8@°c to 5-8@¾c higer at $1.11½@1.11¾. The initial firmness was due mainly to a good demand from traders who had sold short the early part of last week. There was also fair buying by commission houses on reports of unfavorable weather in the Canadian northwest. The gist of the news at hand, however, was largely in favor of the bear element. Receipts in the northwest. The gist of the news at hand, however, was largely in favor of the bear element. Receipts in the northwest continued to increase, and this fact furnished the principal motive for the heavy selling that developed. Liberal sales of long wheat started prices on the down grade and the execution of stop loss orders accelerated the decline. December sold off to $1.08½ and May to $1.10 3-8. Toward the middle of the day the market again became strong, cold wet weather in Manitoba bringing out a good demand from some of the big commission houses. On the rally December advanced to $1.10½ and May to $1.12 3-3 @1.12½. Renewed profit taking, however, resulted in another reaction. Fair increase in the visible suply and larger primary receipts were influences that had a weakening effect. With extreme weakness at Minneapolis the market here became decidedly heavy, December selling off to $1.07½ and May to $1.09°. December closing 1⅛c lower at $1.07 7-8@1.08 and May at $1.09 7-8@1.10. Clearances equalled 66,,900 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,696,000 and the visible suply increased 895,000. Primary receipts were 1,685,900, against 1,318,600 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported 1,067 cars, against 678 last week and 997 a year ago.

A sharp bulge in corn prices occurred as a result of a report of a Minneapolis export claiming the total yield would fall short of the government estimate by 300,000,000 bushels. The situation was further strengthened by a report of a local statistician estimating the total crop at less than two billion bushels. The advance failed to hold, however, many traders being inclined to place confidence in the government figures. The market became decidedly weak late in the session, the close being practically at the low point. December opened 1-8c lower to 1-8c higher at 50 1-8@50 3-8c, ranged between 49 5-8@51 1-4c and closed at 49 5-8@49 3-4c. Receipts 561 cars, 46 contract.

Steadily increasing supplies were a depressing influence in oats. Prices were inclined to favor other grains downward. The market closed at the low point. December opened unchanged to a shade higher at 32 5-8@32 3-4c, sold between 32 1-8@32 7-8c, closing at 32 1-8c. Receipts 202 cars.

The fact that hog receipts have not increased to any great extent since the settlement of the strike had a strengthening influence on provisions. There was a good demand from packers, but offerings were light. January pork closed 7 1-2c higher at $12.75, lard 10c higher at $7.12 1-2@7.15 and ribs 2 1-2@5c higher at $6 65.

Estimated tomorrow: Wheat 170 cars, corn 698 cars, oats 311 cars, higs 17,000 head.

COTTON—The large port receipts for the first time during the season had an effect upon the market showing the influence that must be felt as the crop progresses. Trading has been light, and no early attempt made to advance prices, which were easier during the forenoon under the pressure of cotton. Advices from Memphis section are very favorable with promise of a larger yield than last year. The advance during the afternoon was without significance—was professional and local. The limited business made ti easy to raise prices a few points, but the sustaining power was lacking. The spot market was steady at unchanged prices.

COTTON COMING IN RAPIDLY

Warm Weather Has Caused It To Open and Mature. Pickers Prosper.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) Many of the cotton fields of this section of Georgia and Alabama will be clean by October 1. Cotton in this section has opened with remarkable rapidity during the past two or three weeks, and the planters are devoting their energy to picking it, in some cases paying as much as 60 cents per 100 pounds to laborers.

The weather for the greater part of this month has been very warm and very dry, and as a result the greater part of the cotton has already opened. So rapidly have the bolls popped open that many have been unable to pick it as rapidly as they desired.

Boy Burglars Under Bond.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) In the recorder's court this morning Wilbur Hortman and Louis Flowers, two negro boy burglars, who were arrested by the police Saturday, were placed under a bond of $200 each for their appearance before the superior court. The burglary case against Charlie Williams, the little 10-year-old boy who was arrested as a member of the gang, was dismissed, but he was given a sentence of 60 days on the city chaingang for disorderly conduct.

Surveying Their Line.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) The Blue Springs Land, Water and Improvement Company, which own Blue Springs and 2,500 acres of mountain land in Harris county, 19 miles north of Columbus, are having surveys made by Engineer Josiah Flournoy, for the purpose of relocating their line to this city, the first lines having been approximated only.

After the lines are definitely and permanently located the company will make a direct proposition to the city of Columbus to furnish it a supply of mountain creek water, claiming that by the erection of a storage reservoir six million gallons per day can be furnished.

Kindergarten for Factory Children.

Columbus, Ga., September 19.—(Special.) The Eagle and Phenix mills have just completed in Girard, Ala., a building which will be used as a kindergarten for the operatives of the mills. SPINNERS CALL FOR MEETING

It Will Be Held at Charlotte on the 27th of This Month.

Charlotte, N. C., September 19.—An informal meeting of cotton spinners was held here this afternoon, and a call for a meeting of hard yarn manufacturers in this city on the 27th instant issued.

Between 200,000 and 300,000 spindles were represented in the meeting, which was presided over by George B. Hiss, as chairman. The following were appointed a committee to draft the formal call for the meeting to be held next week:

Messrs. W. C. Heath, of Monroe; George B. Hiss, of this city, and W. A. Mauney, of Kings Mountain. The committee submitted the following, a copy of which will be sent to the hard yarn spinners throughout the south:

"As the result of an informal conference held in this city today, by the undersigned, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, a deplorable condition of affairs now prevails among those manufacturers engaged in the manufacture of weaving a hard cotton yarn and caused largely by the disparity now existing between the price of yarn and the cost of the raw material, and whereas the only apparent possible way to bring about a change of existing conditions is for a general conference of all spinners interested to be called to council together; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the undersigned, hereby issue a call for a general meeting of hard yarn spinners, to be held in this city, at the county courthouse, at 11 o'clock Tuesday, the 27th instant, and we recommend, in the meantime, that all interested in the character of yarns mentioned, absolutely refrain from making quotations.

outlined above you will doubtless appreciate that your interests demand that you make necessary sacrifices to enable you to attend this meeting, it being believed that a more opportune time to improve your conditions has never existed."

PRICES OF STOCKS AGAIN LOST GROUND

There Was Also A Decided Shrinkage In Volume of Business.

MONEY OUTLOOK A FACTOR.

Occurrence of Jewish Holiday of Yom Kippur Kept a Large Element Away From Exchange—Closed Very Dull But Above Lowest.

New York, September 19.—Prices of stocks lost ground again today, and there was a decided shrinkage in the volume of business. This was partly attributable to the occurrence of the important Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur, the observance of which kept a large element away from the session of the stock exchange. The appearance of weakness was most acute at the time the corn market was strongest, giving a suggestion of the factor of greatest influence on sentiment. The movement in both markets was not based on immediate new developments, but on the appearance of estimates of the volume of the crop by experts, who have won some following in the course of the recent active speculation in wheat and in stocks. These estimates were of a total crop of less than two billion bushels, compared with a crop indicated by the government figures of September 1, of 2,491,000,000 bushels. There was increasing discussion also of the money outlook on the Saturday bank statement. The effect of this statement a 2 per cent. rate for call loans and a firmer tone for time loans and shorter periods. With hte surplus reserve cut in two or three weeks, and the larger part of the crop moving demands yet to be made, it is obvious that an early contraction of the loan accommodations of New York banks must be enforced. Confidence is felt that this may be done without stringency of money. Sterling exchange ran off today in response to the firmer money market, but discounts also hardened and gold rose in London. The closing was very dull and heavy, but above the lowest.

FIVE HAD RUNNING FIGHT.

Detectives Are Endeavoring to Solve Mystery of Cutting Affray Several Days Ago.

Detectives are still trying to solve the mystery surrounding the stabbing of John and Oscar Dickerson, two white men, who live at 53 Gartrell street, and who were treatedby the physicians of Grady hospital Sunday morning. Neal Lancaster, D. C. Collins and Jack Pearce also seemed to have been slashed in the same melee, and cases have been made against all five men.

John Dickrson denied to the hospital physicians that he knew who cut him, and Oscar Dickerson confessed that he knew who cut him, but refused to give the name of the man who did it.

When the three other men were arrested yesterday morning by Officers Mashburn, Pate and Hannah, they also denied knowing how the cutting happened. It was learned that the fight originated Saturday night at the corner of Pratt and Decatur streets, and terminated near the Southern railway chute on Yonge street.

Oscar Dickerson was cut three times—once in the left side, once across the abdomen and once over the left lung. He is in a serious condition at his home on Gartrell street.

John Dickerson was stabbed in the right side. The wounds of the other men are slight.

Trials of the men will take place before Judge Broyles Saturday morning.

CHARGED WITH BURNING THEM

Trial of Eastland Will Be Interesting One.

Jackson, Miss., September 19.—(Special.) United States Senator A. J. McLaurin was in the city today en route to Indianola, where the sensational trial of W. C. Eastland, charged with being responsible for the burning at the stake of Louis Holbert and wife, will be resumed during the present week.

Senator McLaurin is the principal counsel for the defendant, who belongs to one of the most prominent families in the state, and is a brother of the young planter who was killed by Holbert and his companions in the Doddsville neighborhood last February. A negro who assisted in the defense of Eastland was also killed, and the tragedy was followed by a man hunting lasting more than a week, and in which more than five hundred persons participated. Holbert was finally captured and, more dead than alive, was carried back to the scene of the killing and burned at the stake, together with his wife, who was believed to have aided in the killing.

The Eastland killing resulted in the death of eight persons before Holbert and wife finally met their fate, several negroes having been killed during the exxciting man hunt. No effort of any kind was made to prevent the burning at the stake by military interference, although it was known throughout the state that the negro would met with swift punishment if captured. W. C. Eastland, who is to be placed on trial for his life this week, is charged with having applied the torch to the funeral pyre on which Holbert and wife were burned to death. The trial promises to be one of the most notable that has taken place in the state for many years, as the defendant is ably represented, Senator McLaurin ranking as one of the ablest criminal lawyers in the country, while the prosecution, led by District Attorney S. D. Neill, has collected a strong array of evidence against the prisoner. The Eastland family is wealthy and well connected, the victim of the negro Holbert having been one of the most prominent planters in that section of the state.
